WAR ON HARVESTER TRUST IS TAKEN TO COURTS

of all kinds may be confidently expected at an early date."

MR. M'CORMICK'S COMMENT.

Declares Charges Will Fail Because They Are Untrue.

Chicago, April 30.—In regard to the suit filed today at St. Paul by the government against the International Harvester company, Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the harvester company, said:

"The International Harvester case differs radically in its facts from all the so-called trust cases heretofore decided under the Sherman law. The Harvester company was organized in 1902 for the purpose of securing economy in the manufacture and sale of harvesting machinery and of increasing the foreign trade. It had no water in its capitalization and it has earned only a reasonable return of its capital, less than 7 per cent. per annum. The price of its machines are now substantially the same as in 1902, notwithstanding an increase of 15 per cent. in raw material prices and 30 per cent. in wages. The company has caused a large saving to American farmers in the cost of agricultural implements, it has increased foreign trade in agricultural implements four-fold in nine years. It has not sold cheaper abroad than at home. Its treatment of its customers, its employes, its agents and its competitors has been in accord with the highest standard of ethics and honorable business methods.

"The charges of misconduct in the bill have been met and disproved by the company in other cases and they will fail again because they are untrue. More than six years ago the company asked for its investigation by the United States government and opened all its books and records for inspection and furnished all information requested. No suggestion of any change in its business methods has been made to it by the government at any time. Recently a full and frank discussion of the whole situation has been had by the representatives of the company and government in honest discussion to reach a plan. Some plan as yet must be found. No form of reorganization was suggested by the government that seemed practically possible."

Later Judge Willard signed all the orders asked by the government. Subpoenas, returnable on May 6, were ordered issued for Cyrus H. McCormick, Harold F. McCormick, Charles Deering, James Deering, George W. Perkins, Norman R. Ream, Edgar A. Bancroft, Elbert H. Cary and for all other individuals and corporations named in the petition not residents of this district.

THIS FARM HAS FORTY OWNERS

Co-operative Agriculture to Be Given a Trial in Kansas.

DIVIDES IN PLATS

Kansas City, April 30.—The Fruitcrest Farm association, in which industrial and social co-operation is to be applied, is now being established near Independence. It is on a farm formerly owned by Norman H. Chamberlain, a mile north of Independence on the west side of River boulevard.

The enterprise was announced last October. The tract was sold to the association by Mr. Chamberlain, who has become a member. It comprises thirty-five acres. A four-acre lake is to be in the west part. A stone dam will be built to retain the water from several springs. The lake is to be stocked with fish, and fitted for boating and bathing.

Improvements Held in Common.

The plans contemplate the association of forty families. Thirteen acres on the north, east and south sides are to be divided into forty tracts of about one-third acre each. One of these is to be sold to each head of a family. The price is from $725 to $1,000 for a tract, and the terms are $50 down and $10 a month without interest till all is paid. The purchaser may put all the improvements he desires on his own ground. The only restriction is that he may not put up a business house without the consent of the board of directors. With his own lot he buys one-fortieth of the ground and improvements held in common.

These lots all face toward the inner part of the ground, which is an irregularly shaped tract of twelve acres. The central part is to be used for intensive agriculture and horticulture and cultivated in common for the common good of the members. Five acres already have been planted in Irish potatoes. On the farm are 300 bearing cherry trees, planted by Chamberlain before he sold it.

Twenty-eight Have Joined.

Between the tracts owned by individuals and that owned and cultivated in common is a 30-foot driveway to be used for pleasure vehicles only. For other vehicles there is to be a 20-foot driveway on the outside of the tract. On the outer edge of the entide farm there is to be a woven wire fence six feet high. No fences of any kind are to be on the inside of the grounds.

The officers of the association are: C. B. Hoffman, Kansas City, Kas., president and treasurer; Charles A. Sumner, Kansas City, vice-president; Norman H. Chamberlain, 715 North Liberty street, Independence, secretary and superintendent.

"Twenty-eight of the forty tracts have been sold," Chamberlain said yesterday afternoon. "Most of the members are home people, but one is from Los Angeles, Cal., and we are expecting one from St. Louis. Of the money paid in by each one, $500 is to be used on the improvements for the common good. These improvements are to cost an aggregate of $20,000. No mortgages are asked for or given, and consequently there can be no foreclosures.

The Parking Has Begun.

"The grading and parking is now in progress. We expect to put up a dairy and poultry house, to be conducted on the most modern and scientific lines.

"One thing I wish you would make plain. This has been called a 'socialistic enterprise.' It is not socialistic in the political sense of that word. It is strictly nonpartisan and nonsectarian."

Wild Bird Returns to Captivity.

Are birds able to think and remember where they have been well cared for? A gentleman living in Leith is in the habit of feeding the birds which frequent his garden during the winter months. Some time in January, 1911, he enticed a greenfinch to enter a cage and so captured it. It was wearing a ring on its leg marked "Aberdeen University, 7185."

In the following March he set it at liberty, declares a correspondent of The Scotsman. He was much surprised when on January 13, 1912, the bird returned. On his cage being presented to him, the bird hopped contentedly into it and settled comfortably down for the severe season. An examination of the ring left no doubt as to the identity of the bird.

IT ASTONISHED THE COOK

Marvelous Appetite of "Mr. Clarendon," Whose Name Was Passport to Kitchen's Best.

J. Hayden-Clarendon, eating his three meals in a German grill of much renown, has, day by day, extended his acquaintanceship from the steward to each of the waiters and from thence into the kitchen to the cooks. And it so happened a while ago that one of the cooks had had to send his wife to a hospital. Clarendon, ever thoughtful, bought flowers and sent them out to the kitchen to be forwarded thence to the hospital.

This, of course, made him more than solid with the culinary department of the big restaurant, with the result that whenever a waiter announced that the order was "for Mr. Clarendon" the cooks would go to the limit in getting him the best steaks and chops and serving them as works of art.

The waiters weren't slow in learning that the word "Clarendon" was the passport to the kitchen's best—the open sesame, as it were.

So it happened that one afternoon a waiter came into the kitchen with the order:

"T-bone steak, rare, for Mr. Clarendon."

The man at the broiler threw up his hands.

"What's come over Mr. Clarendon?" he asked in astonishment. "He has had two porterhouse steaks, boiled salmon, ham and eggs, three oyster stews, sanddabs, chops, and now he wants a T-bone steak—and all in an hour!"—San Francisco Chronicle.

EVEN SPLIT ON THE MASSACHUSETTS VOTE

Taft Carries State by 3,600, But Marking of Ballots in Primary Gives Mr. Roosevelt 18 Delegates.

CLARK ALSO LEADS BUT FOSS GETS VOTES

Boston, Mass., May 1.—Massachusetts emerged today from her first presidential preferential primary election to find that the republican voters had expressed a preference for the renomination of President Taft, but not withstanding had given Colonel Roosevelt 18 of the 36 delegates to the national convention.

The democratic voters of the state expressed a preference for Speaker Clark, although a majority of the delegates to Baltimore will go pledged to Governor Foss.

How It is Explained.

Just how Massachusetts could send an evenly divided delegation to Chicago, while on the preference vote Taft has a plurality of 3,600 over Roosevelt, is partly explained by the wording of the state presidential preference primary law enacted two months ago. By that law every voter to have his vote recorded was compelled to mark each delegate at large of his party, there being no circle for voting by groups. The law enabled hundreds of voters to mark the eight names in the delegation headed by C. S. Baxter and styled "for Theodore Roosevelt," and then express a preference for Taft on another part of the ballot.

Clark Also Suffers.

On the democratic ticket, although 10 of the 15 candidates for delegates at large were either elected or indicated to be for Governor Foss, there was no Foss named in the presidential preference column.

Speaker Clark, whose name appeared in the preference and who defeated Governor Wilson by a vote of 2 to 1, did not have a single pledged delegate on the list. Many of the democratic district delegates were also elected pledged to Foss.

The Roosevelt leaders declared today that Taft preference would have no effect upon the delegates chosen "for Roosevelt," and that the expression of the voters for Taft would be disregarded.

What Returns Show.

Additional and practically complete returns from yesterday's presidential primaries giving the vote from 1,076 out of 1,080 precincts in the state, show:

LaFollette (preference,) 1,756; Roosevelt (preference,) 71,203; Taft (preference.) 74,808.

For delegate at large: Baxter, (heading Roosevelt group.) 74,121; Crane, (heading Taft group.) 65,876.

Practically complete returns from fourteen congressional districts show that the complete Massachusetts delegation to Chicago will stand 18 for Roosevelt and 18 for Taft.

Republican Delegates.

Republican delegates elected are:

At large—Charles S. Baxter, George W. Coleman, Frederick Fosdick, A. B. Hart, A. O. La Rivier, Arthur L. Nason, Alvin G. Weeks, James P. Maginnis, all for Roosevelt.

By districts—First district, C. C. Chesney, E. B. Blake, pledged to Taft.

Second district, E. P. Clark, Wm. H. Reiker, pledged to Taft.

Third, Mathew J. Whittall, Lawrence P. Kilty, favorable to Taft.

ROOSEVELT PROMPTLY RENOUNCES CLAIM TO DELEGATES AT LARGE.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 1.—Col. Roosevelt renounced his claim today to the eight delegates at large to the republican national convention elected for him in Massachusetts yesterday.

He telegraphed them that he would expect them to vote for President Taft, taking this action, he said, because of the fact that President Taft carried the state on the presidential preferential vote.

Col. Roosevelt announced his decision in a statement, copies of which he telegraphed to each of the eight delegates at large elected yesterday. The statement follows:

"In Massachusetts the ballot contained the names of eight candidates for delegate at large with, printed under each the words 'pledged to vote for Theo. Roosevelt,' and also contained a column in which the voter was to express his preference as to whether I or Mr. Taft should be nominated as president. It would seem unlikely that a majority of the voters would both vote for the delegates pledged to me and at the same time express a preference for Mr. Taft, but apparently this is what happened. Such being the case and on the assumption that the preferential vote is for Mr. Taft, I hereby announce that I shall expect these delegates at large to disregard the pledge to support me, and support Mr. Taft; and if any one of them hesitates so to do, I shall immediately write him and urge him with all the emphasis and insistence in my power to take the course indicated and support Mr. Taft in the convention.

"In this fight I am standing for certain great principles which I regard as vital to the present and future welfare of this nation.

"My success is of value only as an incident to securing the triumph of these principles. Foremost amongst these principles is the right of the people to rule, but the duty of their representatives really to represent them in nominating conventions no less than in executive or legislative offices. If the majority of the rank and file of the republican party do not wish me nominated, then most certainly I do not wish to be nominated.

"My aim has been to get the genuine expression of their genuine desire precisely as, if nominated, I should desire to get at the polls the genuine expression of the majority of the whole people; because my only purpose in being president would be to put into effect certain principles and policies in which I ardently believe and which I could not possibly put into effect unless I had behind me the hearty support of the majority of our citizens."

'Neath the Tirade of the Old Apple Tree

Northern Indiana Farmer: "I guess I'll go out where it is possible to grow good apples. Now, in this part of the country, it is impossible to—"

"The Old Apple Tree: "Here, old fellow, let me butt in and tell you something. That western country is all right and they raise splendid apples out there, but I want you to know that if you farmers would only give the Indiana fruit trees the same care that they do in the fruit-raising regions of the west, you could raise just as fine apples as they do. It's too late for you to do anything for me, for I am dying of your neglect and carelessness, but for goodness' sake wake up and give the little trees a chance to do something for you. Learn how to care for them, as well as you do your hogs and horses and cattle and they will show you that they are just as true, just as good and just as fruitful as their western friends."

MANAGERS EACH CLAIM VICTORY

McKinley and Dixon Talk of Massachusetts Results.

BUT FIGURES VARY

Washington, May 1.—Victory in the Massachusetts presidential primary was claimed today by both the Taft and Roosevelt national campaign managers. Director McKinley, of the Taft bureau, declared that "President Taft has carried Masachusetts beyond all doubt," and that the Roosevelt delegates at large would be "morally bound to vote for President Taft."

Senator Dixon, manager of the Roosevelt headquarters, said he would "let Col. Roosevelt speak for himself" whether or not the presidential preference vote is binding upon the Roosevelt delegates-at-large who appear to have been endorsed.

Senator Dixon's statement gave but 14 delegates to Taft. The McKinley statement credited 26 Taft and left the other ten "doubtful."

The Two Statements.

The Dixon statement follows in part:

DIPLOMAT DIES IN WASHINGTON

T. C. Dawson, Known as the "Great Pacificator," Passes Away.

HAD USEFUL CAREER

Washington, May 1.—Thomas Cleveland Dawson, resident diplomatic officer of the state department, died here early today after an illness of several weeks, with a complication of diseases. He was 46 years of age and a native of Hudson, Wis. Mrs. Dawson, who married the diplomat in Brazil in 1897, and several children survive.

Mr. Dawson was famous for his skill in handling difficult Latin-American questions. He was regarded in Latin America "as the great pacificator" and time and again the services of "Tom" Dawson, as he was familiarly known, were in demand to smooth things out when two of the smaller republics to the south were ready to fly at each other's throats or relations between one of them and the United States had been strained to the breaking point.

Beginning his college career at Harvard, Mr. Dawson graduated at Hanover college, Indiana, and later took a law course in Cincinnati and was admitted to the bar. Then he established a newspaper at Enterprise, Fla. From 1886 to 1889 he practiced law in Iowa and after another try at journalism was elected attorney general of Iowa, which place he held until 1894. He began his diplomatic career in 1897, when he was appointed secretary of the legation of Brazil. After serving with marked success in several of the Latin countries he came to Washington as resident diplomat. Since then he had been sent to Central America on various important missions.

SHARE THE RAFTS WITH LIVE STOCK

Louisiana Flood Refugees in Most Pitiable Plight.

RUSHING IN RELIEF

Torras, La., May 1.—Relief is being rushed to hundreds of marooned families in the flooded territory north of this place. Food depots have been fixed at points convenient for purposes of distribution. Terrible conditions prevail in the Black river section. In many instances parents and their children have taken refuge on hastily constructed rafts, which they share with live stock.

A. C. Simmons, who arrived from a trip over Concordia, Catahoula and Tensas parishes, said that all of these parishes are under water with the exception of a few towns protected by levees.

The inhabitants are homeless and destitute, he said. "Five thousand white persons along the Black river are in a desperate fix. The government supplies received there are inadequate.

"Many families, expecting the flood, built rafts and when the water came they moved their household goods aboard. Horses, cows, pigs, chickens, dogs and cats are sharing these rafts with the farmers and their families. The rafts are anchored to trees and that's the way they are living now.

"The bellowing of the cattle could be heard a great distance. The people not only need food for themselves, but provender for their live stock."

The water continued to rise in the district yesterday, the gauge at the Torras bridge showing an advance of four-tenths within twenty-four hours.

Miss Garnet E. Frye, of South Harrison street, went to Huntington today to attend the wedding of Miss Gladys Vernon and Don A. Talbert, of Ada, Okla.

MAN WHO BUYS LICENSE DOESN'T OWN HIS WIFE.

Muncie, Ind., May 1.—When a husband pays $2.50 for a marriage license does that mean that he owns his wife? Certainly not, according to Judge Robert Van Atta, of the superior court. In her suit for divorce Mrs. Ella Alexander alleged that soon after their marriage her husband, Robert Alexander, said that by reason of buying the license he became her owner and that she was bound to do as he said.

"I didn't know much about the law, but I hardly believed that," said the aggrieved wife, "so when he told me he was tired of being a married man and wanted to leave me, I investigated and found that a wife when married is not necessarily her husband's slave."

Judge Van Atta agreed with her. There was no defense on the part of the husband.

WAGONS ROLL AWAY BEARING CLAIMED DEAD FROM TITANIC

Sixty Unidentified Bodies Yet in Morgue at Halifax Where Staff of Embalmers is at Grim Task.

Halifax, N. S., May 1.—Thirty embalmers worked all night in the improvised morgue upon the hill, preparing for inspection more or the unidentified dead in whom centers the fragile hope that relatives still searching for Titanic victims may find their kin. Police guarded the building all night and throughout the night there rolled away from time to time wagons with the claimed dead.

The unidentified list with the exception of two tentative identifications made last night still stood sixty when the work was resumed today. This was the official total as estimated from White Star line lists.

George Widener, jr., of Philadelphia, has left Halifax in his private car apparently convinced that the body buried at sea was that of his father's valet and not of Mr. Widener. Several others whose hopes were shattered by yesterday's developments started or are preparing to start for home, though many others whose quest has so far been without success will await the arrival of the cableship Minia, with what promises to be a meagre addition to the list of bodies recovered.

Major Blanton Winship, U. S. A., said today that he had seen the unidentified dead and had given up all hope of finding Major Butt's body.

Confirming predictions that few more would be added to the Minia's quota, the following message from her, sent via Cape Race, was received here today:

"Tuesday—Northerly gale, misty. Found body W. T. King, purser's assistant, being 45 miles east of that found yesterday, showing how widely bodies are scattered and how difficult to find with no reports from passing steamers

Leaving the Windy City at 7:30 o'clock the journey through the west will be made over the Santa Fe railroad and the special, after traveling through some of the most beautiful territory of the United States, reaches Los Angeles at 8:45 o'clock Sunday evening.

The Mizpah Special is one of the finest and best equipped special trains ever sent out of Fort Wayne. It consists of one commissary coach, a chair car and three Pullmans. Huge banners bearing the words, "Mizpah Temple, Fort Wayne," stream from the sides of the coaches. One of the features to be staged during the trip will occur at Albuquerque, N. M., where the members of the patrol, attired in Mexican uniforms, will give a street parade.

Special Uniforms.

The patrol for traveling is equipped with drab suits and hats to match, with tan shoes. Aside from the Mexican uniforms, the full patrol uniform is carried. In the parade this afternoon the drab suits were worn. Other Nobles of the party were wearing fezes during the entire trip.

WOULD ABOLISH COMMERCE COURT

House Committee Fails to Make Appropriation for Tribunal.

A SLASH IN EXPENSES

Washington, May 1.—By failing to report an appropriation for the recently created commerce court, the house committee on appropriations today sought to abolish that tribunal. The general supply bill for the legislative, judicial and executive branches of the government is a wholesale attempt at reduction of government expenses.

The bill proposes a reduction of the salary of the secretary to the president from $7,500 to $6,000, the old figure, and the abolition in the department of commerce and labor of the bureaus on manufactures and statistics.

Proposes to Abolish Mints.

It is further proposed to abolish the mints at San Francisco, New Orleans and Carson City, Nev., and the assay offices at Boise, Idaho, Charlotte, N. C., Deadwood, S. D., Helena, Mont., Seattle, Wash., and Salt Lake City, Utah. San Francisco would get an assay office in lieu of its mint.

No Evidence at Hand.

President Taft today informed the senate that the department of state has no evidence whatever adequate to show any acquisition of land or any intention or desire to acquire land, whether directly or indirectly, in Mexico, by or on the part of the imperial Japanese government. The president's message was in response to a senate resolution calling for information regarding an alleged purchase of land at Magdalena bay by the Japanese government or Japanese company.

Nearly $700,000 more for the relief of Mississippi river flood sufferers was voted by the house committee on appropriations today. For quartermasters supplies, such as tents, etc., the committee provides $277,179. The commissary department, supplying the destitute with food, will receive $420,000.

JUST A REG'LAR TOWN BOY; HE'S NO GOOD AT FARMING.

Logansport, Ind., May 1.—"My son, he's nothing but a town boy, your honor," exclaimed Monroe Yantis, Cass county farmer, in pleading farm work as an excuse to escape jury duty. "He don't know a darned thing about farming. I've tried to teach him, but it's no use; he's just like a regular town boy; no good for nothing. Judge, I've just got to be out on the farm. I haven't got my corn plowing done yet and haven't finished sowing oats." He was excused by the court.

Polly's Reason

REV. E. W. AVERILL, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, with his little daughter, Polly, were coming downtown one day this week, when the subject of Polly's cold in the head came up for consideration. In connection therewith, the rector inquired:

"Where is your handkerchief?"

"Where is your handkerchief, Polly?"

"I didn't bring it."

"Why didn't you?"

"Well, because I blew my nose before we left home."

OLD QUESTION UP ONCE MORE

Amusement Issue to Come Before Methodist General Conference.

THE INTEREST IS KEEN

Minneapolis, Minn., May 1.—Already interest is keen among the delegates who assembled to attend the opening here today of the quadennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church as to what action shall be taken on a proposal to change the present disciplinarian rules governing amusements.

The rule prohibits dancing, games of chance, theater going, circuses and horse racing as being "a tendency toward worldliness."

The proposition as to its retention or rejection has been referred to a committee.

Oppose Present Rule.

Among the arguments advanced in opposition to retaining the present rule, as given to the committee, are:

"It violates Christian freedom.

"It is a source of constant irritation.

"It puts many in an unjust attitude as disloyal to the church.

"It cannot be enforced.

"As an unenforced law it brings discipline into contempt.

"It keeps many conscientious people out of the church.

"It breeds hypocrisy.

"It has not added to spirituality in the church."

For Continuing Rule.

Arguments for continuing the rule are given as:

"The rule voices a protest against worldliness.

"Repeal suggests a backward step morally.

"Many will avoid harmful things because the church directs.

"Repeal would be interpreted with great publicity as indicating a moral declension."

It was stated it probably would be several days before the real work of the conference was reached. Only the mornings are to be devoted to conference business, the afternoons being given up to committees and the evenings to reports from missionaries.

Editor Has Record.

Among the delegates to arrive were James M. Buckley, one of the editors of the church publication, who has attended ten general conferences in the last forty years; the Rev. W. W. Van-Oradell, of Montana, who is the oldest ministerial delegate in point of service, and Thomas H. Murray, of Clearfield, Pa., the oldest lay delegate.

Three delegates from Korea, led by Sang M. Yi, of Seoul, in native dress, two delegates from Bombay, India, and one from Java, also in native dress, added to the universal character of the assemblage. About 100 delegates represent the church in southern states and in many islands in the tropics.

Among the twenty-five women delegates is Miss Italia Garibaldi, of Rome, a granddaughter of the Italian liberator.

The delegates were welcomed last night at a public demonstration, presided over by Prof. George E. Vincent, of the University of Minnesota, and addressed by Governor A. E. Eberhart.

He was educated in the public schools of this city and after leaving school learned the trade of a sausage maker.

He was a member of Wayne lodge, F. & A. M., of K. of P. lodge, No. 116, and of Ben Hur court, No. 15. He was also a member of Grace Reformed church of this city. to the imperial potentate during the session of the council, and out of a total of eighty patrols present, Mizpah, with ten others was selected to give exhibition drills at the Theater Beautiful. The patrol is in excellent form and an effort will be made to put Fort Wayne on the map, through the work of Mizpah in Los Angeles. The special will remain at Los Angeles until May 11, when it will start its return trip over a different route. In the return trip many stops will be made at various points of interest and the party will reach Fort Wayne on the afternoon of May 19. In all, eighteen days will be consumed in the trip.

Many See Parade.

Great crowds lined the streets for the parade this afternoon and lustily cheered the patrol when it executed a number of difficult drills. The members paid a tribute to Harry Fletcher, a brother member, who on account of business could not accompany it and when the line of march passed in front of the Patterson-Fletcher store, on Calhoun street, a halt was called. After a series of drills, a line was formed in front of the store and the patrol members shouted for Mr. Fletcher, who personally wished the members a safe and enjoyable journey.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of Simpson M. E. church will meet tomorrow with Mrs. Colson, 1928 South Harrison street. Mrs. Beatty will give an interesting talk on the lesson of the day.

What appeared to be another positive identification was made today. Frederick Wenger, of New York, who is seeking the body of his brother-in-law, Sente Reghini, while passing a row of coffins, suddenly exclaimed that he recognized a body classified as a common sailor as that of Louis Hoffman, a Frenchman, whom so many Titanic survivors described as placing into a boat "Lolo" and "Lump," the little boys taken in charge by Miss Margaret Hays, of New York.

SHIFTS TO NEW YORK.

Senate Titanic Investigation to Be Resumed There.

Washington, May 1.—The senate investigation into the Titanic disaster will shift tomorrow to New York city, where Senator Wm. Alden Smith, of Michigan, the chairman, will examine a number of witnesses. Senator Smith left this afternoon after a conference with his colleagues and will remain until Saturday. No other member of the committee will be in New York. Upon his return Senator Smith will begin work on the investigating committee's report which will soon be put into shape for early submission to the full committee on commerce and to the senate. This means that there will be no more formal hearings here.

J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine, and C. H. Lightoller and J. G. Boxhall, officers of the Titanic, were immune from the subpoenas issued by the District of Columbia supreme court, requiring their presence to testify in a civil action brought by Mrs. George Robbins, of New York, and contempt proceedings will not be instituted against them, it was declared today. The three men were served with summonses yesterday but went to New York after engaging counsel to represent them. Contempt proceedings were threatened but it developed today that because the Englishmen were under subpoena from the United States senate no other process could be served on them for a period of 24 hours after their release by the senate committee.

ISMAY NOT DODGING.

Franklin Issues Statement Regarding His Chief.

New York, May 1.—Vice President P. A. S. Franklin, of the White Star line, appeared at his office today after an absence of ten days, having been kept in Washington to testify before the United States senate investigating committee. After a conference with the heads of departments of the steamship company he called in the newspaper men for an interview.

Mr. Franklin said that J. Bruce Ismay, managing diector of the International Mercantile Marine company, is not "dodging service" in the Robins suit. He said that Mr. Ismay would not have to be served in person because service could be made on the company itself or on its attorneys. Mr. Franklin said Mr. Ismay "does not resent the senate investigation, but on the other hand believes it was fair and thorough, brought out all the salient facts and may be beneficial." He added, however, that Mr. Ismay did resent public criticism and attacks made upon him.

Mr. Franklin concluded by saying that he did not know whether or not Mr. Ismay would sail Thursday on the Adriatic, as the managing director might not be able to wind up his business affairs by that time.

CHARGE BLACKMAIL ATTEMPT.

Two Prominent Hartford City Men Under Arrest.

Hartford City, Ind., May 1.—Herman Bourke, real estate man, and Jacob V. Stout, meat dealer, were arrested today charged with attempting to blackmail Louis G. Wilhelms, a wealthy saloon owner of this city. Stout, according to the police, carried a note to Wilhelms yesterday in which the lives of his family were threatened unless the saloon man deposited $2,000 in a designated spot. Wilhelms instead of complying, armed his sons with shot guns and had his house surrounded last night. Today he called Stout to the saloon and, at the point of a revolver, forced a confession, which resulted in the arrest of Stout and Bourke.

WATCH FOR THUGS WHO USE AUTOS

Crime Wave in Chicago Brings Strict Orders to Police.

FACE NEW MYSTERY

Chicago, May 1.—Strict orders were given to policemen today to watch for criminals who utilize automobiles in their attacks. The order was inspired by an attack on Marcon Gorecki, a student at the University of Chicago high school, who was waylaid and robbed of her jewelry by men who dragged her into an automobile and by the depredations of a band of three men who yesterday robbed the cashier of a banking company of $1,000 and escaped in an automobile.

Another automobile mystery which the police face became public with the statement of Amelia Neumann, 19 years old, a domestic employed by a professor at the University of Chicago, that she had been pulled into an automobile, abused and robbed by three men last Thursday night. From the similarity of the circumstances the authorities believe the men who attacked Miss Gorecki were those who ill-treated Miss Neumann.

Robbers Not Captured.

The robbers who attacked the cashier have not been arrested but motorcycle police after a spectacular chase overhauled an automobile of the same description as the one used by them. The chauffeur would not stop and sought to force the motorcycle of one policeman into the curb.

Riding at 40 miles an hour, three policemen jumped to the running board of the automobile and clubbed the chauffeur into submission. In his cap was found $100 in bills and he is believed to be the driver of the robber car.

From the chauffeur the police received information which they believe will aid them in capturing the robbers.

Confesses Tale Fake.

Mary Reynolds, a ticket agent employed by the Illinois Central railroad, who told the police a story of being held up and robbed of $150 by two men in the station last night, confessed today that she had concocted the story of the robbery and had given the money to her sweetheart.

"I took the money and gave it to Charles Duffy," she said. "We were soon to be married and neither of us had much money. I might have known I would be found out. The money is hidden in a cigar box buried at the base of a telegraph pole at 105th street and Michigan avenue."

SOO MAY BUY "WALSH" RAILWAY.

Plans to Purchase or Build Line Connecting With Iron Mines.

Rhinelander, Wis., May 1.—That the Soo Line has determined either to buy the Wisconsin & Michigan railroad or to build a line of its own into Marinette, Wis., or Menominee, Mich., is indicated by the fact that an option has been obtained at Menominee on large tracts of river frontage from a local corporation and the acquiring of right of way privileges. The plans as understood will give the Soo road entrance into Marinette and Menominee, with connecting lines to the iron fields and to Milwaukee. The Wisconsin & Michigan connects with the Soo at Ellis Junction. This was formerly a "Walsh" road. It is in the hands of a receiver.

FIRST MAYOR OF JASONVILLE.

Jasonville, Ind., May 1.—By a majority of 117 Stanley D. Dempsey was elected first mayor of Jasonville today on the democratic ticket. The republicans elected the rest of the ticket. Dempsey's victory is attributed to the support of the "dry" vote.

Auto Bandits Duplicate Paris Robberies in Chicago.

DRIVER IS CAUGHT

Chicago, May 1.—A reproduction of the New York and Paris "auto" robberies which have held those cities terror-stricken was staged in Chicago yesterday morning when two robbers leaped from a touring car at the East Thirty-fifth street station of the South Side elevated railroad, beat Louis Steinbach, cashier for the Schulze Baking company, into insensibility and escaped with $1,000 he was taking to a bank.

Two hours after the robbery James Mendel, 24 years old, 3856 West Twenty-fourth street, a chauffeur for the Newberry Auto Livery company of 1118 South Paulina street, was arrested after an exciting chase by two motorcycle policemen. He made a confession in which he acknowledged having piloted the "robber car," but denied complicity in the hold-up.

Going 40 Miles an Hour.

Mendel was speeding at a forty-mile an hour clip when Detectives Dubach and Weber ordered him to stop. He refused and the detectives gave chase on motorcycles. At South Ashland avenue and West Twenty-sixth street they overtook him. Dubach leaped from his machine to the automobile and beat Mendel into unconsciousness. The detectives then brought the man to Assistant Chief Schuettler's office where, after regaining his senses, he made a confession.

Mendel said the robbers were two young men barely out of their teens. He said they called at the garage shortly after 9 o'clock and rented his car. He said they directed him to go to East Thirty-first street and Wabash avenue and told him to wait. One said, "He has been having trouble with his stepfather and intended going home to get some money."

He said the men were gone about five minutes and then came running back with a tin box and told him to drive fast to East Forty-seventh street.

Take Money Out of Box.

"At Forty-seventh street they took the contents out of the box, and when I asked where they got the money one of them said, 'From my stepfather.'" Mendel said. "They handed me $100 and then told me to drive to West Thirty-fifth street and South Ashland avenue. They left me at that point, and it was only a few minutes later when the detectives arrested me."

The police take little stock in the confession and will question Mendel again.

Steinbach was robbed after he had paid his fare and was on the steps leading to the elevated platform. As he neared the top of the stairway one of the robbers drew a revolver and struck him over the head with it. He wrestled with them, but they rained blows on his head, finally rendering him unconscious. The two robbers then ran for the waiting automobile.

Many See Robbery.

There were a number of persons on the elevated railroad platform who witnessed the robbery. They ran to Steinbach's aid, but could not overtake the robbers.

Detectives of the Rogers Park station pressed an automobile into service and raced for three miles after a city-bound train on the Northwestern elevated road early yesterday in a vain attempt to capture a burglar, who had forced entrance into the home of Walter Chamberlin at 1207 Sherman avenue. The burglar boarded a train after he had been frightened away from the Chamberlin home.

given as the cause. A Washington market dealer said today that if it had not been for the importation of low grade English potatoes recently there would have been a potato famine in New York. No reduction in the present price of potatoes is expected until June, when the crop of Norfolk potatoes comes in.

The marketing committee of the state food investigating commission has been told that there is an extreme shortage in butter and that it would be impossible to buy 150 tubs of butter from any one man or firm in the New York market.

William E. Skinner, of Denver, president of the International Live Stock Exposition association, who is in this city, says:

"We have got into bad shape in this country through not having been prepared for the priod through which we passed during the last five years. I mean the fencing of the range. The range has almost entirely disappeared and most of the land formerly given over to grazing has been settled by farmers. The farmer has not yet adjusted himself to live stock growing.

NEGROES GET OFF EASY.

Winnie Royal, Vivian Young and Marion Ray, negro women arrested in a raid on a house on Lafayette street ten days ago were fined $50 and costs, $25 and costs and $10 and costs respectively on specific charges of immorality.

They plead guilty in the city court today but were afraid to take a chance on jail sentences and asked a change of venue from Judge Mungovan. Attorney Wilbur Carpenter presided in the cases.

Henry Gutermuth struck Leo J. Alerding yesterday and after he had been discharged for drunkenness he was fined $10 and costs for assault and battery.

Jack Baker mixed with Walter Pape in a saloon last night and was fined $10 and costs. He is only seventeen years old but the proprietor of the place was not asked why he permitted a minor in his saloon.

William Hicks drew $25 and costs for drunkenness and Owen Richards was fined $1.

Washington, May 1.—Maxwell Evarts, of New York, general counsel for the Southern Pacific railroad before the senate committee on interoceanic canals today declared that the Panama canal should be opened to railroad-owned ships and the traffic regulated by the interstate commerce commission to insure just and fair rates. He asserted that the real danger to the shippers and consumers did not rest upon the railroad-owned ships but upon foreign aggregations of capital awaiting the opening of the canal.

MANAGERS EACH CLAIMS A VICTORY

"Under all the conditions, Massachusetts is not such a victory as Pennsylvania. The conditions in Massachusetts were more favorable to the Taft candidacy than in any other state in the union. If he could not carry that state he can carry no state.

"This is the seventh republican state to elect its delegates by primaries. They aggregate 232 delegates. Out of these Taft has 14 in Massachusetts, 6 in Pennsylvania and 2 in Illinois, a total of 22 out of 232. This is a ten to one repudiation of his candidacy by these seven republican states. Under this record Mr. Taft disappears as a possible republican candidate for the presidency."

Kendallville, Ind., May 1.—Mayor Forrant E. Field, of this city, is seriously ill with neuralgia and has been unable to look after his duties for some time. It was thought that after the last operation he would be relieved of any further trouble, but evidently another operation may be necessary to give permanent relief.

TWO "WET" TOWNS "DRY" THREE DAYS

This Will Be the Case With Pierceton and Milford in Kosciusko County.

Pierceton, Ind., May 1.—Commencing with the closing of the saloons in this town and at Milford on Friday night, the two towns will be entirely "dry" for three days. One year ago, on May 3, the county commissioners granted licenses to the saloons in Pierceton and Milford and according to the law the licenses are good for one year from the date they are granted by the board of commissioners.

John W. Scarlett, of Milford, paid for and received his license on May 4, 1911; James W. Myers, of Milford, received his license on May 5, as did also Patrick Gavin, of Pierceton, while N. T. Smith, of Pierceton, did not secure his license until May 8. However, all the licenses were dated May 3, 1911, and good for one year only. Opinions differ as to whether the deales may sell liquor on May 3 this year, but all are agreed that the saloons must be closed on Saturday, May 4, and from then until new licenses are granted by the commissioners.

The county board does not meet until Monday and even after the licenses are granted the bonds of the dealers must be filed and approved and the license blanks filled out before the saloons can reopen for business again.

PRIEST SUDDENLY STRICKEN.

Believe Death Is Very Near for Father Messman, of Laporte.

Laporte, Ind., May 1.—Rev. Father Messman, of St. Joseph's Catholic church, was on the verge of death Monday evening when he was suddenly attacked with a severe sinking spell. Father Biegel rushed to his assistance, as he noted his critical condition, and were it not for the fact that he was quickly propped up and restoratives administered, his end would probably have occurred at that time. Father Schramm was summoned and was prepared to administer the last rites. Immediate friends fear that his death will occur within a few days.

AFTER THE OFFICES.

Democrats Who Are Seeking Nominations in Blackford County.

Hartord City, Ind., May 1.—The contest among the democrats for nomination for the various county offices to be filled in Blackford county this year is getting to be pretty lively, although the convention is some weeks away. For clerk there are two candidates, I. R. Harrold, of Washington township, and Clyde Strait, of Harrison township. Mr. Strait is the present clerk and is asking for a renomination. There are two candidates for recorder. Mayor G. W. Sweigart and Jasper M. Baird. There are others who are being urged by friends to toss their hats into the ring and it is expected that the contest for both the clerkship and nomination for recorder will be spirited ones. The newest candidate is William A. Brown, of Jackson township, for surveyor. So far David R. Meelick is the only announced candidate for treasurer. Both the socialists and prohibitionists have nominated county tickets.

NOBLE COUNTY SCHOOLS.

Scholars Who Passed Successful Examinations and Will Graduate.

Albion, Ind., May 1.—County School Superintendent W. A. Beane has completed the grading of manuscripts of eighth grade pupils who took the April examination. There were twenty-three pupils who were successful in making the required grade to entitle them to a diploma. In the March examination there were 100 pupils who made a passing grade and with the 23 successful ones of April, the total foots up to 123 graduates. In the two examinations there were 218 pupils who took the examination, making 56 per cent who were successful in passing.

MONTPELIER MERCHANT FAILS.

Woodland Cloak House Closed Up by the Sheriff.

Montpelier, Ind., May 1.—It has been known for some time that litigation was pending whereby the future of the Woodland Cloak house was uncertain. Brant and Lehr, of Cincinnati, a wholesale firm, first sued Mr. Woodland on note and then a cross complaint was filed by D. A. Bryson, on chattel mortgage. The Blackford circuit court entered a joint decree, holding the D. A. Bryson cattel mortgage as having priority over the suit on note. Mr. Woodland, failing to satisfy the complaints, an execution was ordered, and yesterday Sheriff Townsend took possession of the place of business.

Will Confirm Large Class of Children at Delphos.

Delphos, Ind., May 1.—Rt. Rev. Joseph Schrembs, bishop of the diocese of Toledo will be in Delphos on Monday, May 20, to administer confirmation to a large class at St. John's Catholic church. This announcement was made Sunday by the pastor, Rev. Father Rupert. The class is composed of 473 children and 38 converts, 511 in all. If the work on the new parochial schol has progressed sufficiently by that time, the bishop will also conduct the corner stone laying for the new building on Monday afternoon.

EGGS GETTING PLENTY.

Farmers Bringing Many of Them to Hartford City.

Hartford City, Ind., May 1.—Merchants now are offering 18 cents a dozen for eggs. Local produce dealers report the heaviest trade in eggs and butter for many months. Nearly every farmer who comes to town brings either one or both products, which are sold outright or exchanged for groceries. The scarcity of eggs is believed to be a thing of the past and the price probably will begin to drop.

VETERAN MILL MAN MAKES ASSIGNMENT

Failure of John Minnich, Proprietor of City Mills at Huntington.

Huntington, Ind., May 1.—John Minnich, propiretor of the City mill, has filed a deed of assignment with County Recorder H. D. McClelland. The assignment is made to Israel Heaston, trustee. Mr. Minnich sets out that he is in embarrassed financial circumstances and made the assignment so that his creditors could be satisfied.

He thinks that all of his debts can be paid from the proceeds of the sale of the property. Mr. Minnich's property consists of the flouring mill, vacant lot No. 32, in Kinzi's addition, and some personal property.

Mr. Minnich has been in business in Huntington for many years and has been considered one of its most substantial residents. In late years his business began to fail and he now finds it necessary to assign his property to pay off creditors.

HOLDS LAWS VALID.

Overrules Demurrer to Complaint Against Company.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 1.—In overruling a demurrer to the complaint filed by William Vorheis against the J. D. Eastman company for $8,000 damages for personal injuries, Judge Weir, of the superior court, held that the employers' liability act and the dangerous occupation act, both of which were enacted by the last general assembly, are constitutional.

The suit against the Eastman company was brought under these acts by Jacob L. Steinmetz. The attorneys for the defendant demurred to his complaint on the ground that the laws were unconstitutional, on the ground that they constituted class legislation. Judge Weir said he was reluctant to interpret the laws, as he believed that the supreme court should do that.

Vorheis was employed at the plant of the Eastman company and had his arm crushed while working about the machinery.

TASTE, SMELL AND HEARING RESTORED

A Simple, Harmless Remedy Quickly Relieves Catarrhal Deafness.

The thousands who suffer the miseries of catarrh, and claim they have never found a cure, can get instant relief by simply anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Unlike internal medicines which upset the stomach, or strong snuffs which only aggravate the trouble, this cleansing, healing, antiseptic balm instantly reaches the seat of the trouble, stops the nasty discharge, clears the nose, head and throat, and brings back the sense of taste, smell and hearing. More than this, it strengthens the weakened, diseased tissues, thus protecting you against a return of the trouble.

Nasal catarrh is an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and cannot be reached with mixtures taken into the stomach or with snuffs and powders which only cause additional irritation. Don't waste time on them. Get a fifty cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and after using it for a day you will wish you had tried it sooner. Meyer Bros. Co.

The sketch is of the new Red Cross building, costing $8,000, and especially constructed for the sessions. WILL BUILD CLUB ROOM.

Democratic Organization at Lafayette Planning Erection of One.

Lafayette, Ind., May 1.—With the $1,000 bequeathed to it by the late Jasper Stidham, the Jackson club, the democratic organization of this county, has started a fund for the club home it will erect. The amount will be increased by a certain percentage of the membership fees and the club expects to have a sufficient amount to build the home in four yeas.

The Jackson club is now in a flourishing condition, having nearly 900 members. The lease on the building at Fifth and Columbia streets runs for five years, but it is likely that the club will be moved to its new quarters before that time. There is a nice sum of money in the treasury and several leading democrats of Lafayette and throughout the state have promised to assist the local democratic organization in building the new home.

The club was organized seventeen years ago and has given many banquets at which prominent democrats from all parts of the country have made addresses, and the affairs were of national interest. It is proposed to spend about $20,000 on the new home.

The Newest Effort at Trust-Busting

After prolonged deliberation, protracted and repeated conferences, persuasive entreaty and at least a sufficiency of hesitation, the government has launched its legal effort to compel the dissolution of the International Harvester company upon the grounds that it is a combination in illegal restraint of trade. It will be observed that the suit filed at St. Paul is merely a civil action; that it does not charge criminal conspiracy and that there is a conspicuous absence of some of the ferocious zeal which characterized the legal procedure against some of the other so-called trusts.

The contention of Mr. McCormick, president of the big corporation which is said to control something like 90 per cent. of the American trade in harvesting machinery that it is not in fact a "trust" may be true. The hesitation of the government in proceeding to the courts under the Sherman anti-trust law might indicate serious doubt in the minds of federal counsel whether there is provable fact upon which to base its case. The company has steadily rejected Uncle Sam's suggestion to disintegrate peacefully without a fight—a position undoubtedly based upon opinion of eminent legal authority. The sway of the International in the harvesting machinery field is unquestionably sweeping. It may be one of the "good" trusts. But having threshed the situation over and over through a good part of two presidential administrations without getting anywhere, it was clearly up to the government to find out about it. There was no other way to get out gracefully, win or lose.

When Colonel Roosevelt in his 2,000-word speech to Californians sent by telegraph because he was just at that time busy in Massachusetts, made use of the phrase, "powers that pillage" in cataloguing some of his political enemies, he may have inadvertently harrowed up unpleasant memories to Indiana republicans. "Powers of pillage" was one of the phrases that rolled so trippingly off the tongue of Senator Beveridge two years ago when he made his immortal campaign for Mary and the vine-clad cottage in this state.

More than $1,500,000 has already been contributed in the United States and England for the relief of the Titanic survivors and to care for the dependents of those who lost life in the frightful disaster. This is most eloquent testimony to the genuine sympathy of the general public which, though engrossed for the most part in its own affairs, never fails to rise gloriously in every great emergency.

The Indiana Apple Show commission has fixed the week of November 13 as the date for the annual exhibition this year, but in the face of the stiff competition between Indianapolis, Fort Wayne and South Bend for the honor it has not yet chosen the exhibit city. If the suggestion isn't impertinent, let's make it unanimous for Fort Wayne.

If Senator Culberson's efforts for an investigation as to the amount of money and by whom contributed really goes back far enough to include the campaigns of 1904 and 1908, as the Texan declares it his purpose to do, we may expect to see the most marvelous exhibition of lapses of memory the world has yet witnessed. If rumor current at the time were true, some of the big interests were bled so vigorously on those occasions that they have probably been putting in most of the time trying to lose all recollection of it.

one—though ten years ago it would have ben regarded as a boom year. The slowing up of the pace has proved healthful. Business is upon a sounder basis today than it has been for many years, and there is excellent reason to look forward to one of the busiest and most prosperous years the country has ever enjoyed. The presidential campaign, once a great business "bugaboo," is not looked upon with the old apprehension. Time has proved that there are too many sane men in both parties to admit of a political change proving a dire disaster.

If the calamity of a great railroad strike shall be averted, there appears to be nothing in the way of a tremendous expansion of commerce and industry along sound lines.

THE LONE DWELLERS IN THE ROOMS OF MYSTERY.

Have you ever noticed a house in your neighborhood, a room of which was always darkened, window shades ever pulled down, apparently deserted? And haven't you wondered: "Why?"

Have you ever glanced up at a window and caught the fleeting sight of a face, a man's, a woman's, a child's, a face you never met with a-coming or a-going near that house?

Have you ever missed a familiar face, one you saw that day and never again?

Five years ago the children who played with little Beulah Bussler, of Stewartstown, Pa., missed her one morning. Her parents said that Beulah had gone away. Soon the boys and girls forgot their little playmate. On April 5th last, Beulah was found in the attic of her home, half starved, half clothed, and half insane.

Since that day five years ago when Beulah was penned up in the attic by a cruel mother and father, now under arrest, she has seen through the window of her attic cell, the little girls leave their doll buggies and stroll by her home with young men, who as boys used to spin tops and play leap frog in the old school house yard when Beulah went to school.

On Lenox avenue, in New York city, an old mansion sheltered another hidden person mystery. For nine years Louis G. Parma, a stately and elderly music teacher, came and went. His housekeeper know that there was somebody always inthe front upstairs room, a room into which she was forbidden to set her foot. The old music teacher, when forced to explain, said that his sick wife was there and she liked to be alone.

On April 8th Parma was found dead in that room; in a corner crouched a woman who showed every trace of earlier beauty and refinement, a gibbering idiot. For nine years she had never been out of that rom.

Some thirty years ago a young man living in a New York town disappeared. His brother said he had gone west. Friends, chums, neighbors wondered for a time about him, and then forgot him. Last winter, the brother, who had continued living in the family home, announced the death of the missing man.

He hadn't left the house in all those years. In an upstairs room, secluded behind thick curtains, the young man had grown aged. He watched through drawn curtains the girls and boys he knew grow into manhood and womanhood, marry, become parents. Never did he speak to a single being excepting alone his brother and the latter's wife.

These stories could be multiplied—stories of the eccentricities and mysteries of solitary, voiceless lives.

"ALKALI PETE" WITH SHOW.

Cheyenne Frontier Day Contributes to Young Buffalo Exhibition.

Each year at Cheyenne, Wyo., a Frontier day celebration is held. Cowboys come from all of the western states to contest for the championship in riding outlaw horses, roping and tying steers. This gathering embraces the finest body of horsemen in the world. It is conceded by authorities that the American cowboy is the cavalier par-excellence of the saddle. From this notable gathering of expert horsemen, the rough riders are recruited for the Young Buffalo Wild West and Col. Cummins' Far East, which will exhibit in Fort Wayne on Friday, May 3.

"Old Steamboat" is the name of a notorious outlaw horse, known throughout the western states for his satanic nature and his ability to humble the pride of aspiring riders. For three consecutive years, at the Cheyenne celebration, this old warior defeated all attempts to ride him. Last fall a clean-limbed, blue-eyed chap entered the arena with a fully developed desire to take a voyage on "Old Steamboat," even though the trip would prove to be as rough as crossing the Irish channel in a rowboat. He was scarcely over twenty years of age, but his well-knit face showed determination and courage. After half an hour of desperate and thrilling effort, he succeeded in doing what no other man had ever before accomplished—he had ridden the old outlaw to submission. This young chap answers to the rather euphonious cognomen of "Alkali Pete" and he is but one of many wonderful rough-riders with the Young Buffalo Wild West and Col. Cummins' Far East. In fact, representative rough-riders from Arabia, Russia, Austria, South Africa, Mexico and Australia will give thrilling demonstrations of the various methods of riding, as it is done in the respective countries.

OPINIONS ON SCHOOLS.

Attorney General Interprets Law for the State.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 1.—In an opinion to Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, the attorney general has said that a school corporation may contract a debt up to the 2 per cent limit of total taxables prescribed by law, irrespective of the indebtedness of the civil city of the same municipality. In the same opinion it is held that when a school corporation receives pupils from another corporation by transfer it must provide proper housing for such pupils, even if additional rooms must be rented. A third part of the opinion was to the effect that while the state board of health has power to condemn insanitary conditions in a school building, and to prevent its being used until the conditions are removed, the question of a new building or repairs to the old, are matters entirely up to the school authorities.

Mr. Greathouse has said in an opinion to Superintendent A. F. Huston, of the Howard county schols, that while a township trustee probably has authority during the school year to use a school building for the registration of voters, he should seek some other place for the registration in the event the school wished to occupy the school building on that day. In the event the building is used and the school dismissed, he held, the teacher could collect his wages for the time he was kept from the building. In the event the school has been dismissed for the year, the superintendent held, there is no question of the trustee's right to use the building for the purpose.

FISH TRUST BEATEN AT ITS OWN GAME BY PROGRESSIVE CITY WHOSE OFFICIALS OPEN MARKET AND SELL CHEAP.

Fish Sold for 5c Per Pound When Trust Retailers are Asking 15 Cents.

The fish trust that has heretofore controlled the great lakes fish trade has been beaten at its own game by the city of Cleveland.

The city has gone into the fish business. It is selling fish to the patrons of the municipal market at 5 cents a pound.

Dealers who buy their fish from the trust have been retailing fish at 15 cents a pound.

The city pays the independent fishermen 3 cents per pound for their fish.

That's what the trust pays them—when it condescends to buy their fish.

The trust charges retailers more for fish than the city is charging for fish at retail.

The municipal fish market is made possible by the organization of the "Municipal Fish Co." to sidestep the law as to municipal ownership in Cleveland. This company, with city officials as stockholders, and with a nominal stock of $5,000, serves to make a contract possible. The company cannot make any profit under the terms of incorporation.

At first the independent fishermen, fearing reprisal from the trust, wouldn't make a deal with the city. Finally, however, one fisherman steamed out, set his nets, and came in with 1,500 pounds of herring and pickerel. He got his 3 cents a pound and went back.

By 10 o'clock of the first day the municipal fish market was sold out. Late in the afternoon the tug came in with another catch and that was all sold early in the evening.

Thenceforward the municipal fish market flourished. Other independent tugs got into line and presently the city began wholesaling—selling to retail dealers, at 3 cents per pound, with the understanding that the retail price should not exceed 5 cents and that not over five pounds should be sold to one person.

Meanwhile the dealers who get their fish from the trust have no trade at all.

Honor.

Detroit Free Press: "The American people may have accustomed themselves to the thought of a benevolent despotism in place of their republic, but they have not yet adjusted their standards to the point of liking the sort of practices Mr. Taft attributes to Mr. Roosevelt."

Hypocrisy.

Philadelphia Ledger: "President Taft has performed a service of incalculable importance in tearing the mask of hypocrisy from the face of Theodore Roosevelt."

Prospects.

(Indianapolis Star.)

When the soft coal miners and operators reached an agreement it was generally predicted that the same intelligent conservation would prevent a strike in the anthracite fields. This forecast has now proved true. At the same time some progress is being made in the plan for mediation between the eastern railroads and their locomotive engineers, with a fair prospect that a plan of arbitration will be worked out. This is the only cloud that hangs on the horizon of the country's prosperity.

We count the past year a rather dull one—as dull years go—but it has been a year of progress, of solid advancement, of substantial gain. Business has been good, and the outlook is for better business. Labor has been employed, and the outlook is for more employment. Wages have been paid, and the outlook is for higher wages. Crops have been harvested, and the outlook is for bigger crops. Money has been plentiful, and the outlook is for easier money. Credit has been good, and the outlook is for better credit. Confidence has been restored, and the outlook is for more confidence. Prosperity has been enjoyed, and the outlook is for more prosperity.

WILL GIVE PLAY FRIDAY NIGHT

Young People of Redeemer Church to Render Interesting Comedy Drama

AT ST. PAUL'S HALL

The comedy drama, "Hunker's Corners," which is to be given on Friday evening of this week at the hall of the English Lutheran church of the Redeemer by the Walther league of the church, promises to be the best of the popular entertainments ever given by the young people of the congregation. And this is saying a great deal, for their entertainments are always good, such an one as that of Friday night being given annually. The characters are all taken by the young people of the congregation. The cast was given in the Sentinel of last Saturday. The play has been in rehearsal for some time and it will be well acted and finely staged.

The story is a most interesting one and full of humor, just the sort of one to please. It typifies the old-time country store. The storekeeper is Bill Hunkers, and odd character, as is also his assistant, Tom Washington Scott, a colored man, and Katy, who is fresh from the "Ould Sod." In fact, all the characters are good. The orchestra of the St. Paul Walther league will furnish the music. The entertainment committee in charge is as follows: Catherine Von-der-au, chairman; Harry Guth, Herbert Meyer, Hilda Spiegel, Helen Eble.

JUDAY HAS HARD FIGHT ON HANDS

Remonstrance Filed Against Renewing License to Conduct Saloon.

GRANTS MADE TODAY

A remonstrance has been filed in the commissioners' court against the renewal of a saloon license held by John Juday, whose place is located in the rolling mills district and the case will be up for hearing on Monday.

It is charged in the remonstrance that he sold liquor to minors no later than yesterday, that he has been guilty of the same offense at other times and that the saloon is really owned by Dan Sosim, who can not get a license on his own account.

Saloon men took no chances on allowing their renewals to lay over until Monday and licenses were granted today as follows:

Wholesale—C. L. Centlivre Brewing C., Buckeye Brewing Co.

NO MORE AID FROM STATE.

Monroe County Must Take Care of Its White-Capping Cases.

Indianapolis, May 1.—Gov. Marshall announced today he would not authorize the further expenditure of state funds for the employment of special attorneys to assist in the prosecution of the Monroe county white capping cases.

The governor said he had been advised by citizens of Bloomington that it already had been shown in the Harvey McFarland case that if the proper fight were made in court convictions could be had, but public interest in the prosecutions seemed to have dwindled. Monroe county must take care of the white-cap problem itself hereafter, the governor added.

WOMAN HELD FOR SHOOTING DOCTOR

Formal Charge is Entered Against Miss Osborne in Chicago.

OUT UNDER $500 BOND

Chicago, May 1.—Despite the statement of Dr. W. D. Fischer that he was accidentally shot while in an apartment at 1924 North Park avenue on Sunday evening, Miss Maza Osborne was charged yesterday with assault with a deadly weapon and attempt to kill. She was released later in the afternoon under $500 bond, signed by the mother of Miss Winifred Grey, who was present at the time of the shooting. Her examination was set for May 15.

Capt. Danner, under whose orders the charge was entered, refused to discuss the case, other than to say he would "take no chances."

Dr. Fischer is at the German hospital with a wound in his head. Physicians in attendance said last night he probably will recover.

It was during a little dinner party in Miss Osborne's flat that the physician was shot. Miss Grey, who lives at 3733 Wilton avenue, and John P. Hoek, who roomed in the Osborne flat, were the other members of the party.

According to all four, Miss Osborne was handling an automatic pistol which had been purchased by the doctor the day before. Before giving it to the hostess they say he took out the cartridges in the magazine, but failed to remove one in the cylinder.

They had been discussing the holdup of one of their friends. Miss Osborne is said to have taken the pistol and pointing it at the physician, pulled the trigger. It was discharged and Dr. Fischer dropped to the floor with a bullet in his head.

A receipt for two pistols from Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., dated Saturday, was produced for the police. One was purchased by Hoek.

Miss Osborne was held Sunday night, and Miss Gray was permited to stay in the cell with her.

Dr. Fischer was unable to make any statement that night, but yesterday afternoon told the police that it was entirely an accident.

Miss Osborne was in need of medical attention on Monday afternoon and upon the promise of her friends to produce her yesterday afternoon she was released.

HOUSING REFORM NEEDED IN STATE

Mrs. Bacon Pleads for Laws to Remedy Indiana Conditions.

FORT WAYNE'S CASE

In spite of the fact that in Fort Wayne she found beautiful streets, beautiful homes and a grand spirit of civic progressiveness, Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon, of Evansville, in her address at the high school Tuesday night on "Homes in Indiana," declared that she also found here, in Fort Wayne's slums, some of the worst places she had ever visited in the state of Indiana. She made this still stronger, stating that she found conditions here in some localities and individual cases even worse than can be found in lower New York city, because in the latter place laws are in existence to prevent some of the evils found elsewhere.

Mrs. Bacon, who is known throughout the country as the mother of better housing conditions in Indiana, and whose work at the legislature succeeded in bringing relief to some cities of the state, spoke under the auspices of the Associated Charities at the annual meeting of the organization.

"Since my arrival here," said Mrs. Bacon, "I have visited your beautiful homes, traveled over your beautiful streets, visited your beautiful parks and other places where you have opportunity to beautify, namely the river front, and I can safely say that Fort Wayne will be one of the leading cities of the middle west when the river front improvement is completed. It will far exceed Evansville, as the possibilities here are so much greater for work of this kind.

Says Fort Wayne Has Slums.

"I feel just like a surgeon fresh from the field of battle, with the blood stains still on my hands and clothing," stated Mrs. Bacon in speaking of the trip she made during the afternoon through Fort Wayne's slums.

"I suppose many of you are surprised to know that slums are in existence here," she declared. "You will find them, however, if you choose to, and in some few cases you will find some of the worst conditions possible. Places where I find these conditions are houses in Fort Wayne; they are Indiana houses and places where children are reared to manhood and womanhood, if they live to grow in such surroundings. They are places of poverty, where grime and disease are tied up with social life. I can scarcely put into your language stories about these people, whose vocabulary contains no such word as "bath tub;" people to whom the word "home" is a mockery. If I possessed the magic caldron of Macbeth I could bring before you faces of the poor and there would be no need of words to show what conditions caused that horrible gallery of humanity.

Preventable Poverty.

"Pinching poverty as we know it has ceased to exist, yet poverty as a whole is increasing and our poverty doctors are seeking diligently for prevention. The country is going from bad to worse and new recruits are being added daily. We try to stop the stream from its source, but find too many sources. The great leaders say we must improve the living conditions of the poor. This includes conditions in food, clothing, shelter and labor. The greatest is shelter, the problem of housing and the dwelling. It is not a national, but a state problem which each state must settle for itself. The National Housing association has been organized and is doing good work, yet we find slums in every city of the land. This fact would not have been admitted a few years ago."

Mrs. Bacon declared that bad housing is the chief cause of poverty, instead of poverty the cause of bad housing. Unsanitary dwellings she said cause sickness which results in poverty, and explained that by actual test people moved from the slums into good surroundings picked up immediately and succeeded. She railed the class of charity workers who did their giving by placing a coin on a long pole and handing it to the charity secretary. These people she declared never know what exists because they do not go near it themselves.

Need Many Things.

"They need many things worse than money," she said. "They need love and friendship. They have aching hearts in human bodies just as you and I. Many hearts are starving for human sympathy and friendship. The majority of the people do not know we have so many poor, nor where or how they live. I find, however, that the poor are often more clean than we would be if we were forced to live under like conditions. They are not generally shiftless, but are weakened from their surroundings.

"Room congestion is the worst feature of the Indiana situation in the slums. Many families are housed in one small apartment where men and women of family, who perform every function of family duty, rear their youngsters in the one room. Girls will not bring their company to such a place. Boys will not stay at home; the father goes to the saloon and leaves the mother and babe at home to fight the battle. There is no suggestion for anything but evil and all points out a bad influence. There is more sickness than need be and all from criminal neglect and to the ignorance of the parents is due much infant illness. When people are told to be careful or the health authorities would be sent, they say:

"'Don't send the health officer or the landlord will get mad and turn us out.' The landlords get good rent for these tenement houses and when asked to repair them laugh and declare there is no law in the state that can make them do so. The result of this condition is increased immorality, the spread of tuberculosis and death. Tuberculosis is a house disease and last year claimed more than 4,000 victims in Indiana, chiefly from among the ranks of the poor. We do not need tuberculosis hospitals so long as poor housing exists. For every slum child who lives, the nation has a probable consumptive or a probable criminal. Landlords refuse to help, showing that money outweights human life, human health, human sorrow and human souls."

Need Civic Assistance.

Mrs. Bacon gave detailed accounts of some of the Indiana cities, and included Fort Wayne. She urged the civic leaders of the city to make a survey and ascertain just what conditions exist here and pleaded that the business men co-operate for the sake of humanity and Indiana. "Bad housing is bad business, therefore it will be found profitable to improve living conditions. The prevention should be made now to save remedying in the future when it is too late. I urge you to pledge your senators and representatives to stand for a alaw which will look after the housing conditions in Indiana. We already have one law which since the last census applies also to Fort Wayne, and a great deal of good has resulted from it."

Some Fort Wayne Examples.

Following the lecture by Mrs. Bacon, stereopticon views of some Fort Wayne scenes were thrown upon the screen and cited by O. E. Mohler, secretary of the Associated Charities, as examples of bad housing.

Samuel M. Foster presided at the meeting and the annual meeting of the Associated Charities preceded the lecture by Mrs. Bacon. Five members of the board of directors of the Associated Charities elected to serve for three years were Mrs. O. N. Guildin, A. H. Perfect, W. H. Scheiman, Rabbi William Rice and E. A. K. Hackett.

"THE LOVE TALES OF HOFFMAN."

Beautiful Music of Offenbach Opera Delights Many People.

Offenbach's lovely music, "The Love Tales of Hoffman," was given at the Majestic theater last night by the Sheehan English Opera company. The libretto is the translation from the French of Barbier by Charles Swickard. Mr. Swickard appears in the cast assuming three roles and in each one he is artistic, both vocally and in acting. As Coppelius with his wares to sell Mr. Swickard's acting was superior and in the Venetian scene his song, "Sparkling Gem Now Scintillate," was one of the vocal gems of the evening. Again in the third act as Dr. Miracle Mr. Swickard's ability to both act and sing were marked. His support in the trio with Antonia and the Voice was a part of one of the most beautiful numbers of the opera. Mr. Sheehan's fine tenor voice had frequent and ample opportunity to be heard throughout the entire opera. As Hoffman, with his three sad tales of disappointment in love affairs, Mr. Sheehan sings beautifully and there were moments when the audience gave him unrestrained applause. Miss Gladys Caldwell, as Olyppia and Antonia, was very charming. The humor of the first act of the opera is attractive. The idea of a man falling in love with an animated doll is fantastic in the extreme. It becomes seemingly natural when the man, Hoffman, dons the magic glasses the peddler has sold him. Then the life-size doll which the famous physician, Spanlanzani, has made, becomes to Hoffman's gaze a beautiful young girl. He falls madly in love with her and when he dances with her, or tries to, amid the laughter and jeers of his companions, and in spite of the protestations of his friend, Niclausse, the scene becomes one of delightful humor. Miss Gladys Caldwell, as the automatic doll, was wholly charming and beautiful. When in the third act she appeared again as Antonia her singing and acting were equally well done. Miss Caldwell has not a great voice, but she evidently appreciates the two characters, both the humor of the Olympia and the sorrow and suffering of Antonia, hypnotized by Dr. Miracle, and at the point of death from consumption, but longing to live as she loves Hoffman. The production lacks somewhat in numbers of the chorus and in the Venetian scene and there is room for improvement in stage setting, even at the price for which the production may be seen. The famous barcarolle lacked the color in rendition that might be given it and at times the performance lagged a bit.

STYLES FOR MOTHER AND DAUGHTER.

Brown Holland linen is prettily and simply constructed for a little girl of 10. The Russian peasant blouse is edged at the bottom, sleeves and neck with bands of white linen. The skirt is full, the fullness being acquired through pleats. The front of the skirt has a box pleat, with side pleats leading to the back.

A red patent leather belt is worn with this frock.

Pearl gray voile, embroidered in oriental colors, is fashioned into a stunning afternoon street dress. The under petticoat is of black and white hair-striped silk. A wide collar and revers of this is on the blouse and the same fabric is used as a belt.

The blouse is kimona shape, opens in front and the underblouse and sleeves are of white lawn and lace.

A LITTLE JOURNEY INTO FASHION LAND.

Now, when spring gowns have to be chosen, most people are desirous to find a new idea. Provided the mind to originate is lacking, the idea must be looked for. One of the biggest shops is bringing forward a very simple but charming innovation, which threatens to become the rage later in the season. It is so very simple—only pleats. The idea of a pleated underdress is delightful, for while it preserves the straight contour of today's mode, it yet gives a certain freedom of movement and ease. This idea is shown successfully on two models. The first is a day frock in pomegranate and white foulard. The material of both skirt and bodice is flat pleated, and over it is draped black Chantilly lace, which on the skirt falls low on one side almost to touch the hem, where the drapery is held in place by a motif of tassels. The bodice covered with the lace has long cut shoulders, from which come short puffed sleeves, ending in a band at the elbow, and from this fall ruffles of soft lace. The neck is finished with a turn-down collar of fine Mechlin lace, while the short waist is encircled with a wide black velvet sash falling in two flat ends at one side.

The second dress is in soft white charmeuse. The skirt, cut straight and narrow, is open on one side. It is entirely veiled, as is the bodice, with a blush rose pink chiffon overdress, pleated. Draping this again is a chiffon scarf with silver border woven in a bold Venetian design. This drapery crosses over one shoulder and, catching the end of the front drapery at the left low on the skirt, it falls away to form a transparent train. The high waist belt is in silver brocade embroidered with Nattier blue, a touch of color to enhance the delicate shades of the dress.

Another chic touch shown on several of this year's models is the broad black velvet sash. It is very attractive on foulard gowns, and especially so on summer lingerie frocks. This is called a gold year, and also a silk year—the luxurious year—and well it merits its name, for verily the materials are luxurious, though not ruinous in price.

For the popular three-piece costume there are the most delicious silks of exquisite makes, taffetas, thick, soft and supple, lovely silk corduroys, and many other makes of silk that lend themselves well to the working of tailor hands. They are to be had in all shades. The dark ones show an indefinite stripe or double pine line of a contrasting color threaded through the material, while the golden or champagne shades have often a dark pin line.

The gold year has gained its name on account of the prevalence of yellows and golds in the spring colorings. It is ages since the becoming yellows have had a chance of exercising their powers of fascination, but this year they promise to be very prominent among the well dressed. There are so many tones and shades that all tastes can be suited.

A delightful model is in champagne-colored corduroy silk. The revers of the short coat are in ninon of the same shade and embroidered with floss silk. The embroidery and braid is repeated on the cuffs and on the left side at the back of the coat. This skirt is made with a tunic cut on the cross in front and drawn round smoothly to the side back, where it hangs in a straight line to the hem. The front corner again shows the embroidery.

HINTS TO THE HOSTESS.

So many elements have lately entered into modern life to change the old order of things that entertaining, among other things, has greatly changed. We have instituted the fashion of entertaining at hotels rather than at home; motor cars have tempted people to leave homes so much more frequently that entertaining bores them because it ties them to one spot. Bridge has done away with conversation, therefore good hostesses are robbed of their raison d'etre, has done away with the necessity, and the pleasure of having a good cook or of taking an interest in the menu.

There is one old-fashioned hostess who does things in the old way, however. She tastes everything herself before allowing it to be handed to her guests. The wine, the fish, the sauces, everything goes to her first, and even a pear must be cut and brought for her inspection before a guest may see it. Nothing but the very best must be offered to one's visitors. Such is this woman's idea of hospitality, and how charming it is, and how rare!

We are badly attacked by these new methods, and they appeal to many, but the Old World people do not like them. They love having their friends to dine—but they must be friends, let it be observed—and they love to give them of their very best. The trouble is that Old World people are so fast dying out.

Chafing dish parties are suitable at any time of year, and the suppers, after the theatre or any other entertainment, are indeed popular. The charm of the chafing dish supper lies not in its appointments, but in its simplicity, sociability and informal atmosphere. The secret of success lies in the preliminary planning, and then being absolutely certain that everything needed for the coking is just where the hostess can put her hand on it without having to make frequent trips to the butler's pantry and kitchen for various ingredients.

The chafing dish course should always be preceded by an appetizer. This will give time for the lamp to be lighted under the chafing dish, and if the hot water pan is required beneath it there will be time for the water to boil. In using the chafing dish be sure to place it on a metal tray sufficiently large to protect the table from boiling water, alcohol or fire. Have the lamp filled with alcohol before the guests arrive. Matches can be in a little tray conveniently close at hand.

THE GUEST ROOM SLATE.

One of the greatest conveniences which a hostess can devise for her guests is a clearly written card set on the bedroom writing table detailing the hours of meals, the times of incoming and outgoing posts, the principal trains and other useful information.

It was some one's clever idea to provide a small china slate in each room, on which might be written instructions for the housemaid. It is often difficult to find her during the day in order to ask her for the hot bottle, the glass of warm milk, the necessary help when dressing for dinner, or other needs that may be required, and to ring for her often is not desirable.

Miss Florence Lang Will Create the Character of Manuela in The Romany Maid.

One of the difficulties in writing a comic opera for amateurs lies in presenting the necessary balance of parts in the case. One singer may be exceptional in certain character parts, another demands a definite line of musical treatment, another is particularly clever at comedy and the librettist must recognize these elements and traits while endeavoring to keep the development of the story and balance of the scenic sequence convincingly in the foreground. If there is a plot there must be prominent characters and others less prominent in order to tell it and this one thing takes a comic opera out of the music comedy class. The splendid work done by Miss Florence Lang last year as Katrina in "The Red Letter" was a delight to her many friends and by all the rules of the game she should have had a larger part in the new opera, "The Romany Maid," soon to be produced, but the exactions of the book have limited her possibilities far more than was the desire of the authors. However, her creation of Manuela, the innkeeper's daughter, is sure to stand out in the production and be remembered with pleasure by all who see it. Miss Lang has a beautiful rhythmic solo incidental to the opening chorus and a dance in the same number.

MISS FLORENCE LANG.

In the same act she will sing in a quartet, "Cupid in the Air," and in a sextet in the second act.

Both cast and chorus will rehearse the second act tonight at the Elektron and the opera is developing unusually well.

NEW FASHIONS IN TABLE NAPERY

ALTHOUGH the days have passed away when the housewife was also the spinner and the whole of the household linen was spun and woven at home, the possession and the care of fine drapery still continue to be regarded as the outward and visible sign of a good wife and housekeeper. In the matter of table linen especially taste seems to be growing ever more extravagant, for not only must it be of the finest quality, but it must be also lavishly embroidered and inset with lace.

The large damask tablecloth has given way to the vogue for sets of linen mats, including large oval ones to be placed beneath the dishes, small circular ones for the meat plates and still smaller for use with cheese or salad plates. The change in fashion is all on the side of the decorative, for not only are the mats extremely beautiful in themselves, but they afford an opportunity likewise for the display of a fine dining table, the darkness of the wood showing up to advantage the silver and cut glass arranged upon it. The mats themselves are usually placed upon others of thin wicker or of closely twisted string, in order to obviate the possibility of harm to the table through the heat of the dishes.

Some especially choice sets of these dinner mats are of hand made linen richly embroidered in an openwork pattern of leaves and flowers executed after the manner of the "broderie anglaise." Into the worked design is introduced a number of Italian filet lace squares, also hand worked, and displaying in their design all manner of quaint beasts and birds copied from antique models. The edges of the mats are finished with a narrow border of thread lace, and although the effect is elaborate in the extreme the materials employed are sufficiently substantial to withstand a very fair amount of wear and tear.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

One of the clever ways in which girls are diversifying the appearance of their simply trimmed morning hats is to make different crown bands for them. Some of the bands are composed of twisted satin and others of straight lengths of silk of different colors.

One inventive genius has made a crochet crown band for a black hat in a very pretty shade of cyclamen pink silk, and this she will fasten at the side beneath a cabochon of multi-colored beads.

In another case a band of worsted flowers is added to the collection, and there are galon and embroidered bands of various descriptions.

The button snap fastening is a resource, but hooks and eyes will render amiable assistance also.

RUCHES AND SLEEVES.

With a number of the new toilets a box-plaited black tulle ruche is worn, which fits round the throat and is punctuated here and there with clusters of tiny rosebuds in several shades of pink. Such a ruche, which is exceedingly becoming, bids fair to be a great feature of the season, and will certainly be very much worn with afternoon gowns and elaborate hats.

In Paris the kimono has almost entirely disappeared and the long sleeve is coming back into favor again.

Mutton Curry.

Cut three or four pounds of mutton into dice and brown lightly and quickly in a little butter, as its own fat would probably be too strong. Transfer as fast as cooked to a kettle. To the fat remaining in the pan—about two tablespoonfuls—add one finely minced clove of garlic (or, if this is too strong, a small onion chopped) and one dessertspoonful of curry powder. Cook slowly until the onion begins to brown; add one large tablespoonful of flour and gradually stir in a pint of mutton broth or hot water. Simmer for five minutes, then pour it over the meat, cover closely and simmer for two hours, by which time the meat should be very tender. Serve on a platter with a border of boiled rice.

Boiled Rice.

To cook the rice so that the grains are distinct and dry take a kettle containing four or five quarts of water. Place directly over the fire and, when the water is at a galloping boil, throw in a half tablespoonful of salt and one cupful of rice which has been washed through several waters. Keep the water at a rapid boil until the rice is done. This may be ascertained by rubbing a few of the grains between the thumb and fingers. When tender (which will take from twelve to twenty minutes, according to the age and variety,) drain and stand the colander over hot water for five minutes or more.

SPRING MIND CLEANING.

Just as the prudent and remorseless housewife sets her house in order when April is here, cleaning everything within reach—and even those objects which are not—so should we contrive to have a spring cleaning of the mind, a careful brushing and sweeping of the dark corners of the soul.

We may be sure we have accumulated during the winter months quite a number of dusty prejudices, of ridiculous illusions, of silly rancors which should all be swept away, and air and sunlight let in. Change, travel, absence from work and the usual surroundings are the brooms with which we must achieve our regeneration.

Sense of proportion is apt to be lost at close quarters with troubles, but what seems portentous when we are on Fifth avenue or Broadway assumes its true aspect if we betake ourselves to some quiet spot in the country. A rest—no matter how brief—in some place away from home is perhaps the best way to set about our spring cleaning of the soul.

JAPANESE BOY A REAL PRODIGY

Dixie Icyda, Aged 6 Years, is Strong on Rapid Figuring.

HE IS PHENOMENON

Kansas City, April 29.—Naming instantly the day of the week upon which any date in the past has fallen, or upon which any date in the future shall fall—that is one of the many wonderful mental feats performed by Dixie Icyda, six years old, the son of A. Icyda, a Japanese lecturer who is now in Kansas City. The boy's ability as calculation is prenominal. His feats of mind are performed not only with lightning rapidity, but also with unfailing accuracy. Dixie always knows he is right and always says so.

"On what day of the week," he was asked, "will Sept. 10, 1912, fall?"

"On Tuesday," replied the boy instantly, "and I know I am right."

With such readiness does he answer that his hearers must consume a long time figuring before they can know whether or not he is correct.

Recently Dixie went into a bank in a Kansas town with his father, who was lecturing over that state. One clerk was reading figures to another, who was taking them on an adding machine. When the end of the column was reached the little Jap instantly gave the sum, but it was slightly different from that obtained on the machine.

The figures were checked over, and it was found that the man operating the machine had made a mistake, having misunderstood one of the figures.

In a literary way the boy is also surprisingly precocious. Although he has been in America only two years his English vocabulary is larger than that of most American adults. He can read English fluently, correctly pronouncing both large and small words with ease. One of his feats is that of translating English, as he reads it, into Japanese.

Dixie reads widely, is acquainted with affairs of national interest, and can [illegible] intelligently of noted people, especially of leaders in politics.

Frequently added interest is lent to A. Icyda's lectures on Japan by Dixie, who reads from the bible, delivers recitations, or entertains the audience with feats in calculation. The boy is something of an artist, also, being able to reproduce magazine pictures, for instance, with surprising accuracy.

Internal revenue receipts from this district for the month of April amounted to $29,080.73, exceeding the corresponding month a year ago by $8,247.24. Deputy Collector C. M. Blue attributes the increase to the fact that St. Joe county was added to this district about a year ago.

HIHG-O-ME

That's the Proper Way to Pronounce HYOMEI, the Famous Catarrh Remedy Made from Australian Eucalyptus and Other Antiseptics—Just Breathe It

It Banishes Catarrh

Getting rid of catarrh is an easy matter if you will only use a common sense method.

Germs cause catarrh. You know that, and you also know that in order to end catarrh you must destroy the germs. Sprays and douches will not kill the germs. Liquid cannot penetrate into the folds and crevices of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. Neither can it reach the lungs or even the tubes that lead to the lungs.

In every HYOMEI outfit, which is sold by druggists everywhere, there is a bottle of antiseptic liquid that will kill catarrh germs.

Pour a few drops of this liquid into the little hard rubber inhaler which comes with the outfit and breathe this now antiseptic vaporized air over the membrane of the nose and throat infested with catarrh germs.

It's pleasant, soothing and healing, is this vaporized air, and it is really the only remedy known that can reach and destroy catarrh germs and end the misery and humiliation that catarrh causes. Complete outfit $1.00. Extra bottles of HYOMEI if needed cost 50 cents. Druggists everywhere sell HYOMEI. It is guaranteed not to contain cocaine, opium or other habit forming drugs. Meyer Bros. Co. guarantee it.

CALL THIS JUDGE MODERN SOLOMON

It is He Who Rules That the Man Who Pays is the Boss.

DEALS IN OWN WAY

Springfield, Mass., May 1.—"The Modern Solomon" is the characterization by members of the Hampden county bar by Judge Charles L. Long, whose ready wit and common sense interpretation of involved statutes are attracting wide attention. At the height of the recent legal battle between the Rev. John Ellis, pastor of the Chicopee Unitarian church, and Mrs. Ellis for the custody of a minor child, Judge Long cut long-drawn-out and irrelevant testimony short with the remark:

"We all know that this minister and his wife did not carry their religion into their home."

Last month Judge Long listened patiently to the domestic troubles of Walter S. Kyle, a scenic artist, and Mrs. Kyle, who have been living on a houseboat. Mrs. Kyle charged her husband with cruelty and non-support.

Mr. Kyle said that all his misfortunes arose from the fact that scenic painting was dull, whereupon Judge Long observed severely:

"You should get a job as a motorman or some equally laborious work."

Kyle protested, but Judge Long was obdurate and ordered him to pay his wife $8 a week, or 50 cents a week more than his average earnings for several weeks previous.

When Mrs. Elizabeth M. Horn appeared before Judge Long and asked for a larger allowance for the support of herself and children, under separate maintenance proceedings, Judge Long increased the amount to $13.

"I refuse to pay a d——d cent more!" shouted the husband.

Judge Long looked at Horn severely, but to everybody's surprise did not commit him for contempt. Later it was explained that had Horn been sent to jail he would not have been able to pay his wife anything, as the allowance was taken from his weekly wages, and the wife and children would have been the real sufferers. Incidentally, it is understood that Horn has since become quite docile.

One of Judge Long's most famous utterances was at the trial of the separate maintenance suit of the wife of Henry D. Marsh, assistant treasurer of the Springfield Five Cent Savings bank.

Any family could be happy, Judge Long averred, if the husband and wife followed these precepts:

"The husband is absolute lord and master of the exchequer.

"Under the law he is entitled to his meals at any hour he wants them.

"He may select such food as he chooses. If he wants one food and his wife another, the husband's decision goes.

"A servant girl to whom the husband objects must be discharged.

"Finally, man, who pays the bills, and not woman, is the boss."

BIBLES FOR HOTELS.

Lafayette Y. M. C. A. to Place Them in Rooms.

Lafayette, Ind., May 1.—As a result of a visit here of the leaders of the Gideons, a parade will be formed in this city in a few days, headed by the leaders of the Y. M. C. A., and will march to the different hotels of Lafayette, placing Bibles in all of the rooms. The Gideons' visit was the first ever made by members of that organization. Their object is to place Bibles in the hotel rooms all over the United States. Nearly all of the Protestant pulpits were filled by members of the order, with four Indianapolis men at their head. These included F. A. Montgomery, D. S. Ullrick, H. D. Ward and C. D. Meigs.

A local camp of the order was founded with William J. Klenly as president, and it was decided to march from the Y. M. C. A. building to the hotels with a large number of Bibles which were bought by local church leaders to assist in the Bible movement.

There never was a time when people appreciated the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy more than now. This is shown by the increase in sales and voluntary testimonials from persons who have been cured by it. If you or your children are troubled with a cough or cold give it a trial and become acquainted with its good qualities. For sale by all dealers.

FURORE OVER FAIR BARBERS.

Make Strong Bid for Trade by Not Talking in Washington.

New York, May 1.—To say that the woman's barber shop, which recently has opened in a fashionable uptown neighborhood, has created a furore among the tenants of the apartment houses in the vicinity is putting it mildly. Already the staid old shops of the neighborhood are putting signs in their windows which read:

"The female barber is more deadly than the male."

The woman barbers in the new shop are not conversationalists. They seldom speak unless spoken to. They say that while engaged in shaving they must keep their minds on their work. It goes against the grain with them, they say, but they are out for the trade.

They lost their first prospective customer, they said. A middle-aged man came in, and without looking around, took off his coat. When he saw that women barbers were employed there he hurriedly left.

MORE CHINA RELIEF NEEDED.

American Red Cross Learns Famine Situation Is Appalling.

Washington, May 1.—Although the American Red Cross already has cabled $151,000 to the Shanghai relief committee since January 1 last, the conditions are still reported as appalling. A cablegram received at the Red Cross headquarters expresses the hope that the contributions will continue to come in and help to meet the crisis now impending. It is pointed out that the funds already sent will have to be largely augmented if it is expected to take care of the Chinese. For $3.60 in cash a family of five can be supported a month. The Red Cross gives assurance that every cent given will be intelligently and wisely applied.

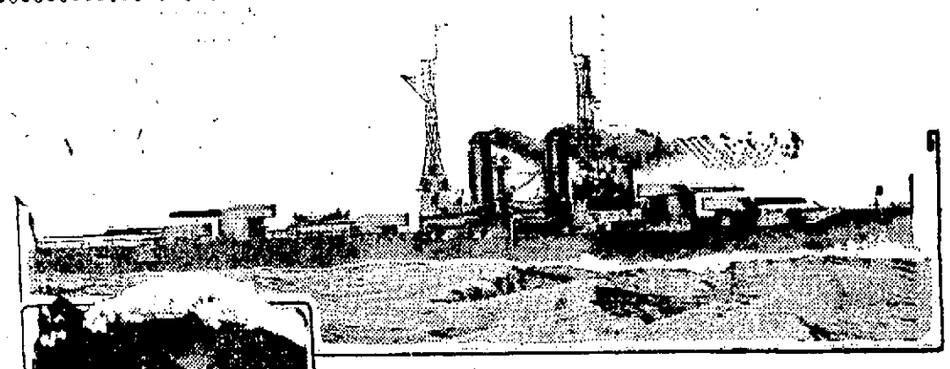
"A suit that never seems to fit is a damage suit"

From the tree climbing age to the smart-man-around-town period, there is never a time when a good suit of clothes dosen't helb.

Start the child in being particular and the man will never be handicapped by a "damage suit" of clothes. He will get the habit of good dressing, almost as necessary, in this age, as a good education.

We look after the little man's and the young man's appearance as carefully as we prepare for their grandfather's "That's some," too. Believe me.

BIGGEST U. S. BATTLESHIP, AND GIRL TO CHRISTEN IT.



This is a sketch of the new battleship Texas, and an inset photograph of Miss Claudia Lyon, who will christen it at the launching at Newport News, Va., May 18.

Little Miss Lyon is a daughter of Cecil Lyon, republican boss of Texas.

The Texas is the lagest and latest of U. S. battleships, costing $5,830,000. The keel was laid in April last year and the ship is to be ready for commission in October, 1913.

The Texas is of 27,000 tone normal displacement and is 573 feet long. Her sister ship, the New York, is now being built at the New York navy yard. These two are the first to be built under the eight-hour law, which government figures show increased the cost 21 per cent.

Dr. H. L. Coffman is securing estimates on the cost of installing a series of wireless telegraph stations that are to cover the upper reaches of the Conchilla desert, California. The plan is to establish at least five stations and it is probable that before the summer season is on the circuit will be in operation.

MISTAKES DEED FOR WILL.

Newcastle, Ind., May 1.—Thinking he was signing a will, John Hagner, a farmer, living near this city, by mistake signed a warranty deed which gave all of his property to his children. The mistake was not discovered until Hagner went to pay his taxes. He was not only surprised to find that he did not owe any taxes, but also that he owned no property in Henry county. An investigation revealed that a mistake had been made by the attorney who drew up the instrument. A friendly suit has been filed by Hagner to recover his property.

Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You can do it by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts freely at each application. For sale by all dealers.

CROWD CHEERS PITCHER AS HE IS ROUTED BY VETERANS

Charlie Alberts Gives Promise of Being Popular Pitcher in Spite of Loss of Game.

It is rather unusual for a pitcher to be cheered by his home crowd after he has blown up and lost a game that he had sewed up in four innings and held tight for three more, but that very thing happened in the eighth inning of the opening battle with the Vets staged at League park Tuesday when Charlie Alberts felt the sting of the grapplers and was eliminated after Dayton had found him for four doubles and a single in such rapid succession that it would have been suicide to have left him on the mound.

Incidentally the Veterans won seven to 4 and crushed the hopes of 2,733 patrons who paid to get in, and a hundred or so who got in by other methods. Billy Goldrick was sent to the rescue and as the light began to fail a bit his dazzling speed checked the soldiers and although he took up the burden with all the bases populated and nobody down he managed to retire the side without allowing a man to get by him.

In the ninth, however, matters were complicated for him by over anxiety of the manager who loped over into Curley Blount's territory in right to get a fly and mussed it up so that nobody got hold of it and what should have been an easy out was recorded as a double.

It was the most loyal crowd seen at the park in years. As each member of the club went up in the first inning he was cheered and there were no howls when the tide turned in favor of Dayton. Manager Shaughnessy indicated very plainly that he will stage some spectacular ball for local patrons before the season is over.

He had his men on their toes all the time, beat out an infield hit and showed remarkable speed on the bases. No errors of omission or commission affected the result and the local team looked good in the first conflict.

The program outlined in the morning was carried out, except that Jack Compton didn't warm up good and Williams, a young left hander, was sent to the mound. He went along nicely until he walked into the box without the ball in his hand and allowed Charlie Alberts to advance after he had hit for two bags. This got his goat and a little timely talk from the side lines delivered by the manager and Bill Bailey caused Manager Knoll to extract him from the proceedings.

Jakie Fromholtz followed and he baffled the home squad for the rest of the route. Three hits and no runs was his box record for five innings that he pitched to say nothing of the fact that he struck out seven men and didn't pass one.

Some of the Bright Spots.

Bunny Fabrique's play on Williams in the fifth was spectacular. He scooped the ball back of second and whipped it to Bill Clancy. The big first baseman dropped it, but it was late anyhow.

Billy Goldrick had so much speed that the second ball he pitched bounded out of Harry Martin's glove half way to the pitcher's box.

Manager Shag made a dandy try for a run in the third and he is confident that Konnick didn't touch him as he slid over the plate.

Vandagrift drove one at Harley in the fourth and it went by him so fast he hadn't a chance to stop it and it counted for three bases.

Punch Knoll violated the rules by appearing on the bench without his uniform. He directed the play from there, being held in check by a bad ankle.

The players were all up and going all the time. Just as soon as Williams stepped in the box without the ball every Fort Wayne player was on his feet in a minute calling the attention of the umpire.

Owner Claude H. Varnell was sorely disappointed. He wanted to win the opener.

McLafferty did nice work around third and so did Katz, who handled Blount's bunt nicely in the first.

In spite of two budding boils Roy Keener was there forty ways. Four hits in four times up was his batting record.

Blount didn't have a chance in the outfield, but drove in a run in the fourth.

Bill Clancy registered his only hit of the game just at the time it was most effective.

Vandagrift nicked a drive off Dellaven's bat in the sixth that was routed for two bases.

Dayton has a good ball team and will be heard from as soon as the youngsters get used to the cars and the pitchers round to.

BOWLERS TO GET LEAGUE CHARTER

Fort Wayne Association Closes Season and Old Officers Are Elected.

THANKS TO MANAGERS

At a meeting of the directors of the Fort Wayne Bowling association last night the business of the season was closed up and all prize money paid to the winners.

A vote of thanks was extended to Herman J. Kappel, proprietor, and Carl Thieme, manager, of the Metropolitan alleys for the service given during the season and a number of the bowlers took occasion to say that conditions had been highly satisfactory.

The most important step taken at the meeting was that toward securing a state charter and making the association a permanent one. With this end in view a committee was named of which President George H. Stang is chairman and Jack Leist, Tony Haas, Ben Ungemach and John Beckes are the other members, to look into the matter and make a report at the first meeting next fall.

Some radical changes are expected in the method of conducting league bowling in this organization and the members are enthused with the desire to make the association a model of its kind. Treasurer Frank Mills made his settlement with the captains of all the clubs and reported at the meeting that everything had been collected, everything paid out and that the treasury was empty. This was expected.

No opposition to the old officers of the association developed in the meeting and all of them were unanimously elected. They are:

President—George H. Stang.
Vice President—John Leist.
Treasurer—Frank Mills.
Secretary—Chas. H. Spalding.

An entirely new set of by-laws will be framed by the committee and there are already applications for membership that will fill the league, which will be limited to eight teams.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 8—T. HAUTE.

INCIDENTS OF THE OPENING GAME AT THE LOCAL BALL PARK AS RECORDED BY THE SENTINEL'S CAMERA.

Al Weddidge, umpire, and the common enemy of fandom, is shown in the left hand picture at the top and just next to "Cy" Pfirman, co-conspirator, as they appeared when they went on the field.

The photograph of the bleacher fans was taken just as they began to overflow into right field.

In the lower row Mayor Jesse Grice is officially opening the season. Williams, Dayton's pitcher is warming up for the fray and Charlie Alberts is also going through his preliminary heat for the race.

DECAYED FISH MAKING OF LAJOIE

"All the biographies of me that I have ever seen printed," says the one and only Napoleon Lajoie, "state that I used to be a hackman in Woonsocket, and explain how the lure of the diamond proved so strong that I laid aside that tall silk hat, the yellow gloves, the big buttoned coat, and the whip forever. Possibly some of the tricks of the old days stick with me—anyway the scorers say I am 'a long driver.' Get that one?

"I was driving leisurely along one dark and wintry night, wondering if any one would have the nerve to call me to his aid, when I heard a cry of 'Cabby—oh, I say, cabby,' proceeding from a spot somewhere to the right. Steering the horse over that way, I discovered a well-dressed gentleman, considerably the worse for wear and alcohol, clinging to a lamppost with one hand, and holding a package tightly to his breast with the other.

"'I say, old chap,' cried the intoxicated one, who was, apparently, an Englishman, 'take me to the —— hotel, will you?'

"'It's a long drive,' said I, 'and the horse is tired.'

"'That's all ri' chappie,' said he. 'I'll give you $5.'

"Naturally, that looked good to me, so I helped him aboard and drove through the storm to his hotel. 'Here we are, sir,' I shouted. No reply. 'Asleep in the back,' I thought. So I got down, opened the door and peered inside. My fare was gone. Jumped the hack, and in the noise of the storm, I never heard him go. Speechless with rage, I again looked into the hack and there lay the package which he had been tightly clasping. I tore it open, and dropped it in a hurry. It was a large fish. A venerable fish. It had been venerable for a long time, and it was getting more venerable every minute.

"Leaving that ancient and powerful fish lying on the floor of the hack, I drove furiously to the police station. At my loud outcry, the captain in charge woke up and came outdoors.

"'Look here,' I wailed, 'a fellow offered me $5 to take him to the —— hotel, jumped the hack as we rode along, and left his fish behind him.'

"'Too bad, too bad,' sympathized the captain, holding his nose as the venerable fish made itself prominent upon the evening air.

"'Of course it's 'too bad,' I yelled. 'What the —— am I going to do with that —— fish there, I'd like to know?'

"The captain shook his head. 'Why,' said he, 'you keep it for seven days, and then if nobody calls for it, it's yours.'

"That was too much. I laid down the reins and whip the next morning and devoted myself, from that time onward to the good old game of ball."

PRACTICE EVERY DAY FOR A TIME

Shaughnessy is Patching Up Weak Places for the Hard Brush.

COMPTON TO CLOSE

Manager Shag had his boys out at the park most of the forenoon putting them through their paces and patching up the weak spots in his defensive and offensive play.

Four games have indicated that the men are not thoroughly conditioned and there are a few rough places in the signal work and inside play. These have developed in the games and the practice is for the purpose of straightening out these few kinks.

He is also getting a line on the work of Renfer and Loudell and as soon as he is sure they are right he will start them. Until he cuts his squad down he can not foretell who he will use in the games, but Vallhero will pitch one game against Dayton and one of the new men may work in the other.

"On the square, I think you've got a better team here this year than you had last," said Elmer Redelle, president of the Dayton club. "I am honest in this, and I'll bet a hat they'll be fighting right up there all the time.

"I have not seen any of the other clubs except Grand Rapids, but I believe Fort Wayne will be able to give 'em all a battle. That man Shaughnessy will keep 'em up and going all the time and, mark what I tell you, his team will be in the race."

Manager Charles "Punch" Knoll says his lame ankle is getting along nicely and he believes he will be back in the game when he gets home. He also said he would hold Jack Compton back for the third game of the series and that he expected to use Bill Otey in the fray booked for this afternoon.

The Vet manager is pretty well satisfied with his club and thinks it will be able to keep up in the front row most of the time. He has a couple of youngsters who will be better ball players when they get around the circuit once.

Owner Claude H. Varnell and Mrs. Varnell will leave tonight for Wheeling and he will not return for several days. The program that his helpmate has framed up for him includes beating and packing all the rugs at home, putting in the screens and a few little odd jobs around home, and when they are completed Mrs. Varnell will go to Richmond, Ill., to her summer cottage.

A day or two will elapse before Manager Shaughnessy will cut down his pitching squad. He has really had no chance to get a line on his men and so far he has made no selections. All of the men he has worked have made good and this simply complicates the situation so much that he does not know where he is "at."

NEW MAN FOR ARNDT.

Dayton, O., May 1.—Harry James Pearce, who, Manager Punch Knoll says, is one of the fastst youngsters who ever broke into the Central league, has been released to South Bend under an optional agreement and will report to the Greenstockings at once. Pearce will appear at short, displacing Anderson, who has not yet rounded into form. Pearce's appearance is expected to greatly strengthen the South Bend infield.

INDIAN FOR THE SAILORS.

Erie, Pa., May 1.—A full blooded Indian pitcher will soon be numbered among the Sailors and advance word says he will prove something more than a curiosity when he exhibits his prowess.

W. W. Watkins is his name. He hails from Glendale, Cal., and is descended from the famous Cherokee Indian tribe, among the most famous chieftains of which is none other than Chief Bender, of the Athletics.

GETTING DIAMOND READY.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 1.—Bert Annis has been working hard sodding his infield to get it ready for the first game here scheduled for Friday. If the weather remains good he will probably have the work completed.

RILEY TO PITTSBURG CLUB.

Dan "Bullet" Riley, who was an outfielder on the Fort Wayne team when it belonged to the Interstate association, with Jack Hardy as manager, has signed with the Pittsburg club of the United States league.

CANTON SENT UP S. O. S. SIGNALS

New Players Are to Be Obtained to Strengthen Up the Chinks.

OWNERS AFTER THEM

Canton, O., May 1.—An S. O. S. signal went up from Canton during the series just finished on the home grounds and in response the management is out after some new players to bolster up the Chinks who are slipping fast.

At least one new pitcher is being sought by the local magnates, as well as a shortstop and a utility man. To add to the defensive strength of the team, its batting strength, and also to its speed on the bases is the idea. It is not certain that the men now in mind can be secured, but President Yost is optimistic and said that he believed another week would see considerable improvement in the Statesmen.

"These men have not signed up with Canton, nor have they accepted terms," he said. "The negotiations have not proceeded that far. Naturally, the owners of the men have to be consulted about the matter in the first place. There is quite a bit of red tape in baseball.

"But there is one thing that is certain. There will be additions made to the team within a short time that should bolster up the weak places. At least one more pitcher is required to put the twirling staff in the proper shape and the infield should be propped up a little. A man who can play either the infield or the outfield is never superfluous material, especially if he can hit, and this man batted .333 in the south last season. He was at one time in the O.-P. and is known to Canton fans."

If the new heaver is of the caliber of Billy Riley, who made his debut in Canton Sunday against Youngstown, the staff will look twice as strong as it did a week ago. Then there were Donley, Rapp and Roberts that had given promise of being able to travel at the Central pace. O'Connell and Dye have not shown their mettle to any extent. With Donley, Riley and Roberts all going strong and another new man of equal ability in addition to Rapp, it would look the equal of the Erie staff, which is just about as classy as any yet seen in the league. At least four good pitchers are needed to travel through a campaign, and five if several are not able to stand the strain of working frequently.

The infield situation is rather perplexing. All depends upon the playing of McGinty. It is said that he is one of the best shortstops in minor league ball when going right, but since coming to Canton with Ferd Drumm in 1910 he has not shown it. Several baseball sages in the city have advised Mac to seek a change of pasture, for he seems to be unable to play the right kind of ball in Canton. Drumm himself asserts that if McGinty were to get away from Canton he would return to his old form. He was the hero of Sunday's game, which he won by banging out a triple when two were on the bases.

TWO KILLED IN SALOON QUARREL

Bicknell Man is Hurried to Vincennes Jail After Shooting.

FEARED AN UPRISING

Bisknell, Ind., May 1.—John Gaither, bartender at Chadwick's saloon, and former deputy marshal of this city, and Zay Dant were shot and almost instantly killed yesterday afternoon by Frank Hooper, 40 years old, in Chris Moroska's saloon. Hooper was arrested by Marshal Perry and taken to the Vincennes jail overland by a circuitous route to avoid possible demonstration.

Gaither and Dant were planning a fishing trip in Moroska's place when Hooper stepped up. A few days ago Hooper had been ordered out of Chadwick's place by Gaither and on entering the saloon at once started to argue the point with Gaither.

Hooper was in an angry mood and when told by Gaither to keep quiet and not "start anything" pulled a revolver and fired four times.

One bullet hit Gaither in the back and passed through his heart, killing him instantly. The second bullet struck Dant in the left eye and he lived but a short time. Another bullet broke a mirror.

Gaither came to Bicknell from Trinity Springs to act as deputy marshal and it was while in this service that Gaither and Hooper became estranged.

When Bicknell, which is a mining town of 4,080, voted in saloons two months ago Gaither resigned to become a bartender. Just before the shooting Chris Moroska, proprietor of the saloon, told Hooper to cease quarreling or he would put him out.

Because of the excitement Mayor George Fleming ordered the town's five saloons closed and swore in six extra policemen.

Hooper is 40 years old and has a wife and three children. Gaither was 42 years old and a widow and five children survive. Dant was 39 years old, a widow and three children survive.

WILL SUIT WHICH HANGS ON A NOD

Dying Woman Gave Assent as Sister Took Up Vault Key.

OTHER HEIRS FIGHT

Chicago, May 1.—A nod of the head of a dying woman may decide whether or not Mrs. Mary Smith, of New York, is to receive $70,000 in securities left in a safety deposit box by Mrs. Augusta Fitz-Simons, widow of Gen. Charles Fitz-Simons, of civil war fame. Judge Cutting, of the probate court, is hearing the case.

Mrs. Fitz-Simons died a year ago, leaving an estate valued at $100,000. A legacy of $3,000 was bequeathed her sister, Mrs. Smith, and the remainder of the estate was given to other heirs. Mrs. Smith alleges that her sister gave her the contents of a safety deposit box shortly before she died. This box contained papers valued at $70,000.

Dr. Frank Gunsaulus, pastor of the Central church, was called as a witness for Mrs. Smith.

"Mrs. Fitz-Simons was on friendly terms with her sister," he said, "and a short time before she died she told me that the contents of the box were sufficient to take care of Mrs. Smith for the rest of her life."

Mabel H. McClanahan, a trained nurse, gave testimony regarding the nod of the head which may decide the suit.

"Shortly before Mrs. Fitz-Simons died," she testified, "Mrs. Smith was in the room and went to a drawer and took from it an envelope containing the safety deposit key. Mrs. Fitz-Simons saw the envelope in the hands of her sister and nodded her head."

Testimony presented by the other heirs combating Mrs. Smith's rights to the contents of the safety deposit box was presented today.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

PREMIERE PERFORMANCE AT MAJESTIC.

"The Price They Pay" to Be Given First Presentation in Fort Wayne.

In New York and Chicago it is considered quite the proper thing to be seen well down in the front rows on the opening night of a new play—to be a "first nighter." There is a chance that "first-nighting" may furnish a lot of material for small talk and for some boasting should the play "go over." There is a lot of satisfaction in being able to say, when someone begins discussing the big theatrical successes, "Oh, yes, I was a 'first-nighter' to that; saw the very first performance given—and I predicted just what has happened—that the country would go wild over it." There is every promise that "The Price They Pay," in which John Nicholson appears at the Majestic tomorrow evening for the first performance, will be one of the genuine successes. The subject—international marriage—is one that has been exploited thoroughly by the newspapers and is of interest to everybody. "The Price They Pay" is the consideration in cash and happiness which American girls give in return for titled husbands from the degenerate and bankrupt nobility of Europe. It promises to be a good play given a good cast and with the necessary scenic accessories—and it is one of the few opportunities Fort Wayne theatergoers will have of being "first-nighters."

OLD STAGES OF NEW YORK

Many Years Ago They Were Operated Regularly Between Metropolis and Other Cities.

In excavating underneath the former Tallman livery in New York recently workmen found a number of straps such as were used in former days on the stage coaches which plied between Albany to Buffalo.

The straps are supposed to have been made at the Sherwood establishment, which many years ago stood at the northeast corner of State and Dill streets. S. C. Tallman said he believed the straps to be at least 75 years old, and to have lain where they were found probably for that length of time or longer.

It was in 1809 that Isaac Sherwood of Skaneatles became a partner of Jason Barker of Utica in conducting the stage line which passed through this county, carrying the United States mail. It is recorded that in 1816 a line of coaches, among the proprietors of which was the firm of Isaac Sherwood & Co. of Auburn, was operated between Canandaigua and Utica.

These coaches passed over what was known as the Seneca turnpike, constructed between the two points named. It was designed to build this road six rods wide, the middle 25 feet of it to be covered with gravel or broken stone to a depth of 15 inches. The Seneca Turnpike company was authorized to erect a toll gate every ten miles and exact 12½ cents toll for two-horse teams and 25 cents for four horses.

From Utica east a tri-weekly stage line was operated to Albany, and this likewise was controlled by Sherwood & Co. and others.

The corner of State and Dill streets was a great center for stage coaches in the early days. Various other lines besides the turnpike stages converged in Auburn, there being stages to Homer, Ithaca, Oswego, Aurora and other places. It was in that day that the fight broke out between the Pioneer Line, as a new competing company was called, and the Sherwood combination.

The Pioneer Line gained control of the principal hotel in the village, known as the Western Exchange, hoping thus to embarrass its rivals. But the Sherwood interests fitted up the Bank of Auburn, as it was known, for their headquarters. An issue of this campaign was the question of running stage coaches on Sunday.

NEW INTERURBAN SCHEDULE.

Cars over the Fort Wayne and Springfield railway between this city and Decatur have again resumed the regular hour and a half service and the first car on the new schedule left Fort Wayne at 7 o'clock this morning. The line had been operating cars on a three hour schedule since a wreck some time ago in which two of the cars were badly damaged. The cars have just been turned out from the repair shop.

WHY WEAR STORE TEETH WHEN YOU CAN PLANT REAL ONES ALL OVER AGAIN IN YOUR FACE? HOW IT'S DONE.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—You can fill your mouth full of fine teeth that originally grew in another face—if you have the price, say $2,000 per tooth.

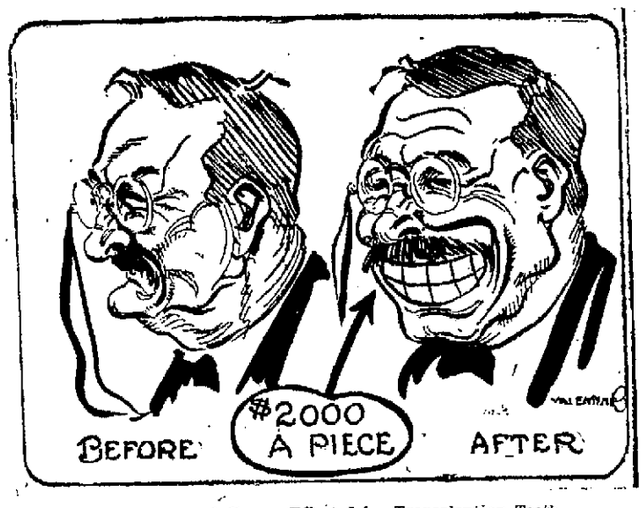
For it seems that there is not a tooth with nerve so dead that it won't go to work again if it gets a chance to serve somebody.

Cast aside by the person in whose jaw it grew and ached, any old tooth will gladly serve anybody who will give it mouth room—will take root and grind and cut and gnash for its new owner till the cows come home.

But there are not very many dentists in the world who can transplant teeth. There are just about two who can be said to be expert tooth transplanters. One of these is Dr. W. J. Younger, an American who lives in Paris and who often crowns the teeth of the crowned heads. The other is Dr. Robert Good, of Chicago, who was a pupil of Dr. Younger, and who is perhaps the foremost dentist in America.

Dr. Good has transplanted scores of teeth. The other day, before the members of the Michigan State Dental society, he planted a tooth in a place where there had been no tooth for twenty years. The man who is harboring it says he is confident that it will stay and do its duty, for he is now using several other teeth from other heads, including three incisors, planted by Dr. Good long ago, all of which are now firmly rooted in his jaw.

This man, a wealthy Chicagoan, paid $2,000 for the most recent addition to his colony of alien teeth. The tooth itself was just an ordinary cast-off molar from the snag-box of some country dentist.



Artist's Idea of Change Effected by Transplanting Teeth.

No particular effort has to be taken to keep the tooth that is to be planted "alive." It may lie around for years and still be good. The tooth that the Chicagoan paid $2,000 for was pulled a year before it was planted.

Dr. Younger, the pioneer transplanter, used to think that it was necessary to keep a tooth alive for transplanting and he tried various schemes. One of his plans was to plant the tooth in a rooster's comb till it was needed. But experience finally told him that all this care wasn't necessary.

Dr. Good puts his extra teeth in a bottle with a little piece of damp sponge. The dampness keeps the enamel from cracking.

The operation of transplanting is simple. Skill in manipulation is the principal thing. The gum is lanced and laid back, to expose the place where the original tooth was. The socket is found filled with a sort of osseous deposit. This is drilled out and the socket is reamed out to its original size. Then the root of the strange tooth is forced into the socket. The crown is lined up with the neighboring teeth and anchored to them with silken ligatures. A local anesthetic is used.

In a few weeks the bone of the jaw has gripped the root for keeps, and the saliva of the mouth has colored the tooth to harmonize with its mates. Then the silken cords are taken off. The alien tooth has been naturalized.

In one instance, Dr. Dood supplied a patient with a full set of natural teeth.

WABASH SHOP PUTTING ON MEN

Every Department Busy and Prospects Are Bright.

ELECTRICIAN INJURED

Employment of new men at the Wabash shops in this city indicates a steadily increasing volume of business at that place. Last month over 150 new men were placed upon the pay rolls in the various departments, and this month gives promise of being equally as good. Engines are constantly arriving in the shops for repairs and the movement of freight over the line is quite large in volume. The fine new freight house is being rushed to completion and every indication points to busy times for the Wabash, not only in this city but along the entire system.

To start the present month nine new men were placed upon the pay roll this morning, as follows: Timothy Murphy, paint shop; E. Sechman, Roy Nuttle, Elmer Harris, B. F. Lehmbeck and Aug. Bitner, machine shop; James M. Brown, Daniel Battenberg and H. J. Valroff, boiler shop.

PRINTERS WILL MET.

Large Attendance Expected at State Convention in Muncie.

The members of the Muncie Typographical union, No. 332, are already making plans for the entertainment of the Indiana conference of Typographical unions, which will be held in that city Sunday, July 21. It is expected that there will be several hundred printers in Muncie on that day as each union in the state will have not less than one delegate to the meeting and the majority of the unions will be represented by a number of delegates.

Several prominent labor men will also be in attendance, including James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical union; J. W. Hays, secretary-treasurer of the I. T. U.; W. E. Tracey, first vice president of the I. T. U.; and Edgar E. Perkins, president of the Indiana State Federation of Labor. It is also probable that former Mayor Charles Bookwalter, of Indianapolis, will be present and make the address of the day.

The business session of the convention will be held early Sunday afternoon, followed by a banquet at 5 o'clock.

GIRL EMPLOYES TO ENTERTAIN.

Arrangements are being made by the young ladies of the Sigma Zeta Beta club, an organization of girl employes in the S. F. Bowser offices, to give an entertainment at the James H. Smart school on May 24. A play entitled "The French Maid and the Phonograph" will be given. The club was but recently organized and has for its purpose the furnishing of social and educational entertainment to employes of the Bowser works. The club meets on the second floor of the old school building which belongs to the works and through the generosity of Mr. S. F. Bowser the rooms have been neatly finished up and furnished. Officers of the club are: Miss May Polhamus, president; Miss Maud Challenger, vice president; Miss Mamie Philley, secretary; Miss Clara Miller, treasurer.

ELECTRICIAN INJURED.

Word was received in this city today to the effect that G. Traxler, employed in the electrical department of the Pennsylvania company, with headquarters in this city, had met with a severe accident at Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Traxler has been engaged for several months in working on the new power plant of the company in Cleveland, together with two or three other workmen from this city. The message gave no details as to the extent of his injuries, outside of the fact that his neck and shoulder were hurt and that he had been conveyed to a hospital for treatment. Mr. Traxler's

Forty-Three Years As a Machinist

JOHN R. BITNER.

The subject of the portrait given herewith, John R. Bitner, is the oldest machinist in point of continuous service in General Foreman H. T. Hogan's department of the Pennsylvania shops. Mr. Bitner began his apprenticeship as a machinist on March 15, 1869, over forty-three years ago, under Master Mechanic James M. Boone, General Foreman S. B. Bradly and Assistant Foreman John Leeson. Previous to that time he was engaged in work on the old Pittsburg road under a sub-contractor by the name of John Cox, his employment in that capacity covering a period from 1865 to the latter part of 1866.

Mr. Bitner has a fund of interesting reminiscences of early days in railroad shop work in Fort Wayne and is a most entertaining talker. He is highly regarded by his shopmates and is a congenial companion and skilled workman. He resides, together with his most estimable wife at 519 East Lewis street. Mr. and Mrs. Bitner are the parents of eleven children, ten of whom are living—four daughters and six sons. Three daughters and three sons reside at home with their parents, while one daughter, Mrs. Knott, is married, and three sons, A. C., Erwin and F. A. Bitner, reside in Los Angeles; Eureka, Cal., and Grand Rapids, Mich., respectively.

TRAFFIC MEN TO MEET.

A notable gathering of railroad men will be the annual meeting of the freight traffic officials of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern, which will be held in Toledo June 4, says the Toledo Blade. The meeting will bring to this city about 125 representatives of the freight traffic department of the three roads, including freight traffic managers, general and assistant freight agents, commercial agents, general agents, local agents and traveling freight agents. The business meeting will be held in one of the hotels and when completed the visitors will journey to Detroit on the White Star steamer Greyhound.

After inspecting the Detroit terminals the traffic men will go to Cincinnati where the annual banquet will be held, and the following day they will go to Indianapolis to inspect the terminals of that city. The traffic officials kill travel in a special train.

The object of these annual meetings is to confer regarding the best methods of boosting the freight traffic business of the three big systems.

"GRAFT PIECES OF DEAD BODIES ON LIVE PEOPLE;" QUICKENING THE QUICK WITH TISSUES OF THE DEAD.

NOTED SURGEON SAYS THIS MIRACLE, NOW FAMILIAR IN THE PLANT WORLD, CAN BE PERFORMED UPON HUMAN BEINGS.

Buffalo, May 1.—Flesh and bone from the dead can be used to patch the sick bodies of the living.

This is the assertion of Dr. Roswell Park, a noted professor of surgery in the University of Buffalo. His scheme for rehabilitating the quick at the expense of the dead is set forth in an article entitled "Thanatolgy" in the current Journal of the American Medical association. He says that one sound body, such as that of a person in health killed by accident, will furnish enough available tissues for making perhaps 50 grafts—each one of which might mean health and happiness to someone.

"Let a healthy young woman meet accidental and instantaneous death," says Dr. Park. "It would be possible to use no inconsiderable portion of her body for grafting or other justifiable surgical proceedures.

The arteries and nerves could be used in the fresh state, and the former even after preservation, for suitable transplantation or repair work on the vascular and nervous systems of a considerable number of other people. So also could the thyroid, the cornea, and especially the bones.

"All the teeth, if healthy, could be transplanted. While the thin bones, ribs especially, plastic operations—particularly of noses—could be performed on 50 people.

"The exterior of the body could be made to supply any amount of normal skin for grafting. The kidneys could also be easily utilized."

Dr. Park believes that the time will soon come when the surgeon will ply the art of flesh and bone grafting as generally and as successfully as Burbank and his disciples today ply the art of budding and grafting in the orchard.

DISAGREE WITH THE GOVERNOR

Lawyers Not in Accord with Marshall and Ex-President Roosevelt.

DON'T WANT RECALL

Muncie, Ind., May 1.—Sharp issue with a statement attributed to Governor Marshall, in which he is quoted as saying that he left the profession of lawyer for that of politician because he believed the latter more honorable was taken by lawyers of Muncie, who attended services in the Jackson Street Christian church, where the pastor, the Rev. George B. Stewart, observed "lawyers' night." The minister had addressed questions to a number of Muncie lawyers that included their opinion of the Rooseveltian doctrine of the recall of judges and judicial decisions. The lawyers were practically unanimous against that idea. The attorneys, in their answers the preacher's questions, also said that honor among lawyers is a matter of the individual just as it is among members of other professions and occupations. Governor Marshall was criticised for condemning his own profession, although it was admitted he might well condemn many members of it.

Questions Answered by the Lawyers.

Some of the questions to which the lawyers made answer were these:

"As a moral issue—not a political view—would a recall of judges be advisable?"

"In your estimation, is the judiciary of the country throttled as much by big business interests and corrupt politicians as revealed in certain well known magazines of late, such as Everybody's?"

"Is it advisable to legislate to any great extent beyond the recognized public sentiment and conscience?"

The lawyers in general expressed the belief that though there may be corrupt judges on the benches, they are fewer in proportion to the numbers than those in any other line of work, not even barring the ministry; that the recall of judges and judicial decisions would be the first step toward undermining the constitution; that though there have been notable examples of the judiciary's being corrupted by business, the very rarity of this condition caused it to assume unwonted importance, and that it is often wise to enact legislation that is a step in advance of public sentiment because the latter, ordinarily, soon catches up. The lawyers made it plain that they had no sympathy with the Roosevelt idea of the recall of judges and judicial decisions.

HANGS SELF TO AMUSE ANOTHER

Paul's Chum Saves Him by Mentioning It at Supper.

LAD DID NOT DIE

Springfield, O., May 1.—"Want to see how people hang themselves?" said Paul Simmons, aged eleven years, to Ernest Harmon, five years old, in Casstown.

"Sure," answered Ernest.

Paul tied a piece of twine twice around his own neck, tossed the other end over a limb of a pear tree, climbed up and drew a loop knot tight, and then jumped off. It amused Ernest immensely. Paul choked and sputtered and gurgled and frantically clutched his fingers in the noose about his neck.

Just then Ernest was called into the house for supper. Presently he asked his father if water runs out of the mouths of people who hang themselves. The father said he did not know and advised him to eat his supper and not ask silly questions.

Ernest was silent for a few minutes and then asked if he could step to the window to see if Paul was hanging there yet. His parents followed him and then they hastened to the back yard and cut Paul down. His face was black, his tongue was protruding and swollen. No signs of life were apparent, but after they had worked with him for some time he regained consciousness.

"I was reading about people bein' hung in a book I got for Christmas and I thought I'd show the kid something he never saw before," he explained. He added tht it hurt pretty bad until he "didn't know nothin'."

Both were born and reared in Johnson county, were married Oct. 7, 1852, and celebrated their golden anniversary more than ten years ago. Mrs. Lemasters was the last member of the Cummingere family. Mr. Lemasters is survived by two brothers, Isaac Lemasters, of Iola, Kas., and Washington Lemasters, of Franklin. Four children, Mrs. T. Whitenack, A. E. Lemasters, Mrs. John Jennings and Mrs. Marion Callon, all living in Johnson county, also survive.

U. S. JACKSON STARTS HOME.

House Sergeant-at-Arms, Seriously Ill, Insists on Making Trip.

Washington, May 1.—Over the protests of his physicians, who regard the trip as extremely hazardous, Stokes Jackson, sergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives, departed yesterday afternoon for his home at Greenfield, Ind., attended by Mrs. Jackson, his son, Omar, a physician, a nurse and a colored servant. The trip home was arranged hurriedly at the solicitation of the sick man. Mr. Jackson's affliction is diagnosed as sciatic rheumatism complicated with heart trouble. His friends on the Indiana delegation are worried over his condition.

WAS DRINK SUICIDE CAUSE?

Temperance Lesson in Death of Man Who Took Acid.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 1.—There is a temperance lesson in the death of Robert Ballance, fifty years old, whose body was found in a room at 241 Eder avenue a week ago Sunday. Coroner Durham will return a verdict of suicide within the next few days. Ballance had been put on probation by his family, in an attempt to cause him to quit drinking, and it is believed when he realized his fight was hopeless he ended his life.

Mrs. Ballance, the widow, denies statements made by the police who investigated that she could not be found after the death. That she was not in the rooming house with her husband, she says, was due to the effort to cure the drink habit. If Ballance had stuck to his pledges he would have been permitted to return home at the end of the month.

Mrs. Ballance makes her home with a daughter in Bellefontaine street. She has been ill recently, and her condition has been aggravated by worry and grief incidental to the death. She says her husband called on her the day before he killed himself, when he took flowers to her and appeared bright and cheerful. She says there had been no quarrel, as was reported, and the police made no effort to find her.

Witnesses before the coroner testified that Ballance had been drinking heavily. He was found on his bed. An empty carbolic acid bottle was near at hand.

FIFTY WORKMEN OUT ON STRIKE

Carpenters Unable to Get the New Agreement Signed.

EXPECT NO TROUBLE

Although local No. 232, Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, has declared a strike in Fort Wayne, following the refusal of certain contractors to sign the new agreement for a minimum wage scale of 40 cents per hour and consent to a closed shop, only about fifty out of a total of 400 members are out of employment. When roll was called at 9 o'clock this morning at Carpenters' hall between 50 and 60 men responded. Roll call will be held each morning at 9 o'clock and each afternoon at 3 and those who are still unemployed at the end of two weeks will be given the usual strike benefits.

"We are not a bit worried," said Special Organizer Sullivan, of Indianapolis, who is in charge of the union forces. "Only a comparatively few of our men are out on account of the strike. Only about forty actually laid down their tools this morning, and the other union carpenters of the local are all employed by contractors who are favoring our demands."

The workmen will not ask contractors to sign the agreement, it is said, but will be willing to accept a verbal promise of recognition. All members of the union, however, have provided themselves with copies of the agreement in order to be able to present it to employers in the morning before going to work. It is declared that several members of the Master Builders' association in Fort Wayne have expressed their willingness to recognize the new agreement.

Objectionable Sections.

Sections of the carpenters' new agreement that are especially objected to by contractors read as follows:

Section 1. Nine hours to constitute a day's work, at the minimum rate of forty (40) cents an hour.

Section 5. A member will not be permitted to work on any job for a contractor who does not employ union carpenters exclusively; except a non-union man may make application and be permitted to work on permit until fee has been paid, and not longer than two (2) weeks.

Section 5B. All men to work on job until local 232 or the B. A. can furnish a good man to take his place.

LAKE SHORE MAY ERECT BUILDING

Officials Consult Board of Public Works About Paving Street.

BOARD IS WAITING

If plans that developed in a meeting yesterday between officials of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway company and the members of the board of public works materialize, the company may erect a new freight house in the triangle formed by Clinton and Fourth streets and its tracks.

The conference was for the purpose of asking the board to extend the pavement on Clinton street one square north. The company will pave the approach to its freight house if it is ever built.

No definite action was taken in the matter, but the location is convenient and if funds are available the paving may be done. The east side of the square is all park property and the city would be compelled to bear half the expense.

Will Ask for More Lights.

W. D. Miller and J. E. Hamlet have in circulation a petition to extend the ornamental lighting system west on Main street to the interurban station and it has been liberally signed. In order to do this it will be necessary to may be done. The east side of the square east of Ewing street and to build new sidewalks extending out to the curb. The petition will be presented to the board of works and it will be granted if there are enough signers. The property owners have to pay the cost of installation and the city supplies the current.

A POOR WAY TO HIDE

The ostrich endeavoring to conceal itself from danger, thrusts its head into the sand, doubtless believing that if it cannot see, neither can it be seen. This is a poor way to hide because it leaves the body almost entirely exposed to attack.

Just as ineffectual is the attempt to cure Skin Diseases by the application of salves, cosmetics, lotions, "creams," "skin foods," etc. True, such treatment may gloss over or temporarily hide the outward eruptions, in some cases, but this method does nothing to destroy the impurities, humors or acids in the blood, which produce skin disorders, and the trouble is no more cured than is the ostrich hidden.

Lying just beneath the outer covering or tissue-skin is a membranous flesh which surrounds and protects the tiny veins, pores and glands. It is here the impurities from the blood are deposited and the acrid matter causes irritation and inflammation, which splits or breaks the thin, tissue-like cuticle, and the result is manifested in Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Acne, pimples, or some other disfiguring or annoying eruption.

Since Skin Diseases are the result of bad blood it can readily be seen that there is but one way to produce a cure, and that is, to purify the blood. Local treatment can only afford temporary relief.

S. S. S. cures Skin Diseases of every kind by neutralizing the acids and removing all humors from the blood. S. S. S. cools the acid-heated circulation, builds it up to its normal strength and thickness, multiplies its rich, nutritious corpuscles and adds to its purity in every way. Then the skin instead of being irritated and inflamed by sour impurities, is nourished and soothed by this cooling, healthy stream of blood, and all disfiguring blemishes or eruptions gradually but surely disappear. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and therein lies its ability to cure skin diseases. The trouble cannot remain after the cause has been removed, and S. S. S. will certainly remove the cause. It cures Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Acne, pimples, boils, rashes, and all eruptions of the skin.

TWO POLISH WEDDINGS.

Large Attendance at Celebrations Following Ceremonies.

The Polish people of Fort Wayne celebrated Tuesday night following the marriage of Bruno Celmer, a Polish correspondent for the Kidd Medical company, to Miss Lottie Lukaszewska, 1823 John street, and Peter Ostroveske, a shoe repairer and merchant at the corner of Pontiac and Force streets, to Miss Stanistawa Gabeleska. Both ceremonies were solemnized Tuesday morning at St. Hyacinth's Polish Catholic church and the wedding feast and attending celebration was held at 1823 John street in the rooms at the rear of the Ostroveske shoe shop.

The Ostroveske-Garbeleska marriage was preceded by a romantic courtship. The two were sweethearts during their school days in the province of Warsaw, Poland. Four years ago the groom came to the United States after promising to send for his bride. He saved his money and three months ago sent for her. She reached Fort Wayne five weeks ago.

Attending the Celmer-Lukaszewska wedding was the entire membership of the Little Europe club, to which the groom belongs. The wedding was an elaborate affair.

CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS, COATED TONGUE, HEADACHE OR BAD STOMACH

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. Professor Burrage Says People of Indiana Are Being Aroused.

WORK IS PROGRESSING

Indianapolis, Ind., May 1.—Persons in Indiana who are impatient because the people of the state do not readily awaken to the dangers of tuberculosis and engage in a general movement of prevention should not feel discouraged, says Professor Severance Burrage, president of the Indiana Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

In addressing the society, Professor Burrage said it should be remembered that it took a great many years to arouse the scientists and the physicians to the danger of the disease and to the advisability of prevention, and if it took so long to arouse the skilled men, it is no wonder that the laymen takes longer to make up his mind.

Professor Burrage likened the scourge of tuberculosis to the disaster of the Titanic, in that both could have been prevented. He said that the world was greatly shocked at the news of the disaster to the great steamship, and properly so, yet the same world looks calmly on the annual deaths from tuberculosis.

As Matter of Course.

The ravages of the disease had come to be looked on as a matter of course. In time, he said, all the people would be aroused as much to the necessity of preventing tuberculosis as to the prevention of steamship disasters. A large part of the business of society, he said, should be to help arouse the people to the necessity of preventing tuberculosis. He held out much promise, in view of the fact that never in the history of the state had there been such a determined effort as now to stamp out the disease.

Professor Burrage was elected a delegate to the convention of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, to be held in Washington this summer. With Dr. Henry Moore he was selected a member of a committee to have charge of publicity work for the state society.

Dr. Theodore Potter, treasurer of the society, reported that last year $11,225.80 was realized from the sale of Red Cross seals in the state. Only $4,327 was turned over to the state association, the remainder having been earned by local societies for making the sales.

Directors Named.

In addition to the officers elected some time ago, Professor Burrage announced the following members of the board of directors, one from each congressional district: First district, Dr. W. R. Cleveland, Evansville; Second, Dr. Fletcher Gardner, Bloomington; Third, Dr. Henry B. Shocklett, New Albany; Fourth, Dr. George T. McCoy, Columbus; Fifth, W. C. Ball, Terre Haute; Sixth, Dr. S. Edgar Bond, Richmond; Seventh, Mrs. L. G. Ellingham, Indianapolis; Eighth, Miss Luella Anderson, Muncie; Ninth, Dr. Fred A. Tucker, Noblesville; Tenth, Dr. Otis Nesbitt, Valparaiso; Eleventh, George E. Lockwood, Marion; Twelfth, J. B. Franks, Fort Wayne; Thirteenth, Dr. J. A. Snapp, Goshen.

IDAHO A WONDERFUL STATE

Even the Victims of Its Swindlers Make Money by the Fraud, Says Senator Borah.

United States Senator Borah claims that his state of Idaho is so good that even the people who get cheated within its smiling domain make money by the transaction. On his way from Washington after the adjournment of the last session of congress, he was introduced on the train to an eastern woman who immediately began to tell a long, sad story about the robber-like practices of western people in general and Idaho men in particular.

"My husband was a traveling man," she explained in a lachrymose voice, "and one night in Boise City some of your people gave him too much drink, so much in fact, that he didn't know what he was doing. The next morning he waked up and discovered that he had bought fourteen hundred dollars' worth of mining stock at four cents a share. Think of that, the greatest outrage I ever heard of. I have never even looked up the mine in which the stock was sold, but the experience has taught me that western promoters are merely burglars. My poor, dear husband was robbed as surely as if those men had held him up at the point of a gun."

Mr. Borah asked the name of the mine, and she told him. Without saying a word, he picked up a newspaper and pointed to the stock quotations. Right there that Niobe-like woman got the shock of her life. The stock was shown to be worth $140,000 that day.—Popular Magazine.

Monkey Chastisement.

Monkeys do such an astonishing amount of reasoning, sometimes, that it almost frightens us into believing that Darwin was right after all. A short time ago a child, contrary to all orders, put several peppermint drops inside the wire of a monkey cage, in a circus. One of the monkeys sampled one and liked it immensely, but, thinking that another treat was in store at the end of the cage, left the remaining peppermints unprotected for a brief moment. No sooner was his back turned than a mischievous little monkey made way with the candies, and on the owner's return not a peppermint was in sight. The older monkey gravely considered the situation for a few moments, then called the little monkey to him, tested his breath, and spanked him for dear life.

The Fort Wayne Motorcycle club will hold its first outing Sunday May 5, at Schroeder's farm, south of the city. The start will be made from the club rooms at 9 o'clock. William Crowl, a member, will make a balloon ascension to test his apparatus for the coming season. A. C. Aichele and Al Fortriede will have charge of the luncheon and refreshments.

THE SECRET OF LONG LIFE.

Do not sap the springs of life by neglect of the human mechanism, by allowing the accumulation of poisons in the system. An imitation of Nature's method of restoring waste of tissue and impoverishment of the blood and nervous strength is to take an alterative glyceric extract (without alcohol) of Golden Seal and Oregon grape root, Bloodroot, Stone and Mandrake root with Cherrybark. Over 40 years ago Dr. Pierce gave to the public this remedy, which he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. He found it would help the blood in taking up the proper elements from food, help the liver into activity, thereby throwing out the poisons from the blood and vitalizing the whole system as well as allaying and soothing a cough.

No one ever takes cold unless constipated, or exhausted, and having what we call mal-nutrition, which is attended with impoverished blood and exhaustion of nerve force. The "Discovery" is an all-round tonic which restores tone to the blood, nerves and heart by imitating Nature's methods of restoring waste of tissue, and feeding the nerves, heart and lungs on rich red blood.

MRS. DORN.

"I suffered from pain under my right shoulder blade also a very severe cough," writes MRS. W. DORN, of New Brookland, S. C., to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. "Had four different doctors and none did me any good. Some said I had consumption, others said I would have to have an operation. I was bedridden, unable to sit up for six months—and was nothing but a live skeleton. You advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. When I had taken one bottle of the 'Discovery' I could sit up for an hour at a time, and when I had taken three bottles I could do my cooking and tend to the children. I took fourteen bottles in all and was then in good health. My weight is now 167 pounds.

First Picture of Titanic Wireless Hero Who Died at His Key.

John George Phillips, who sent out the wireless call for help from the Titanic and brought the Carpathia to the spot in time to pick up hundreds. The picture has just arrived from England. Phillips was 26 years old, and had been in the employ of the Marconi company six years, during which time he had operated wireless all over the world on many famous ships.

FIRST THEATER IN AMERICA

It Was In Philadelphia and Its Walls Are Only Now Crumbling Into Dust.

There is an echo of the past called up by the falling of the walls of an abandoned distillery on South street. These walls once inclosed the first theater that was erected in the United States. It was burned out some years later, but the walls have remained to this day.

If surprise be noted over the location of the theater, it is only necessary to point out that in the middle of the eighteenth century the moral and civic spirit of the day prevented the profanation of the city by any such institution, so it was erected outside the boundaries and was in what was known as Southwark. Of the troublous history of this artistic enterprise much has been written. It is unfortunate that records of the dramas given are not complete and that we have few contemporary criticisms from unbiased pens upon the artistic worth of the thespian representations. It is of record that the city authorities were much shocked, that much of Society (with a large S) frowned on the institution, and that rogues and vagabonds were under the ban for a long time.

But even in that day there were those who found pleasure and profit in attending the theater. A few years later George Washington was of those who patronized the enterprise. At that day the name of Washington might have stood against the world, and many young men at least considered that it would do them no harm to follow their leader to the theater.

If we can believe what evidence is available, dramatic managers in those days had some illumination and inspiration, as well as being mere purveyors of entertainment. The supply of plays was meager and not of high class, according to modern standards. The theater was ill appointed and poorly lighted. But the actors and actresses seemed to have had some spark of divine afflatus, for they received commendations from foreign visitors who had seen the best the world afforded.

The dawn of the American drama cast a feeble light, but we may now catch a few glintings of it as its first home in America tumbles into dust.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

We Will Take Your Old Gas Range In Trade
FOR ONE OF OUR NEW
A-B Sanitary Gas Ranges

This will hold good only for the next few days. So many people when they see these wonderful ranges say that they would buy one if they could trade in their old one. We are doing this for an accommodation to get the stoves thoroughly established in the city, knowing that every one we sell will be the means of selling two or three more. Ask the lady who has one. She will tell you there is nothing like it made and that she would not give it up for a dozen other gas ranges.

You Can Scrub These Stoves With Soap and Water

like you do your kitchen floor. They require no blackening whatever. Easiest thing in your kitchen to keep clean. Sanitary in every respect. You will not appreciate this wonderful stove until you have seen it. Visit our demonstration this week and learn something about it.

Every Range Guaranteed Not to Rust

The majority of the gas ranges that are sold rust in time. The A.-B. Range will not. It is enameled on the outside with a thick coating of black enamel put on under enormous heat and the oven linings have a metallic sheeting that is impervious to rust.

ROBISON PARK MANAGER HERE

C. H. Williams Will Open Popular Resort on May 26.

REPAIRS TO BE MADE

C. H. Williams, manager of Robison park arrived in Fort Wayne Tuesday evening and will remain in the city during the remainder of the spring and superintend the work at the popular amusement resort. Mr. Williams' arrival always marks the beginning of the park season and he has set Sunday, May 26, as the opening date for the summer. Under the careful guidance of Mr. Williams, who has had charge during the last few years, Robison park has been greatly improved.

Extensive repairs will be needed at the park this spring on account of the havoc wrought by the severe winter. The boat docks have been swept away and during the recent flood the remainder of the park dam was washed out. All the piping in the buildings and grounds will have to be gone over, as much damage was done during the zero weather last winter. It is hoped by Mr. Williams to have this work all completed for the opening and to be in shape to take care of the Decoration day crowds.

"During my stay in New York this winter I tried to interest a number of bigger concessions in Robison park," said Mr. Williams. "When they found out, however, that Fort Wayne has a population of only sixty some thousand, they could not be induced to take a chance of a season here. Several new concessions have been engaged, however, for the coming season. I expect to begin work at the park immediately."

Fourth, John M. M. Keyes, F. P. Glazier, for Roosevelt.

Fifth, H. L. Chapman, S. M. Decker, for Roosevelt.

Sixth, J. H. Ingraham, jr., Isaac Patch, pledged to Taft.

Seventh, Charles N. Cox, Lynn M. Ranger, for Roosevelt.

Eighth, John Read, George S. Lovejoy, for Taft.

Ninth, A. Tewkesbury, L. L. Jenkins, for Roosevelt.

Tenth, H. Clifford Gallagher, Guy A. Ham, pledged for Taft.

Eleventh, Grafton D. Cushing, W. Prentiss Parker, pledged to Taft.

Twelfth, J. Stears Cushing, Geo. L. Barnes, pledged to Taft.

Thirteenth, John Westall, A. P. Smith, pledged to Taft.

Fourteenth, E. B. Keith, W. A. Swift, for Roosevelt.

Unforeseen Turn in Law.

In both the republican and democratic campaign the candidate who won the presidential preference contest failed to secure the delegates at large, owing to an unforeseen turn in the primary law. The returns from all but forty of the voting precincts early at hand showed that Mr. Taft had a margin of nearly 5,400 votes, but the eight delegates at large supporting the Roosevelt candidacy were victorious by a plurality of 7,852.

The democrats preference favorite, Speaker Champ Clark, of Missouri, failed to secure a single delegate at large, this most important department of the primary being captured by the friends of Gov. Foss, a "favorite son," whose name did not appear on the preferential ballot.

From the reports of the very first town, shortly afternoon yesterday until at an early hour today, the preferential race between Taft and Roosevelt was a neck and neck affair. Roosevelt had the better of the contest during the early evening, but toward midnight the president forged ahead and gradually increased his lead until he had a comfortable majority at daylight. On the other hand the contest between Baxter and Crane, the respective leaders of the Roosevelt and Taft delegates at large slates, was close only for a few hours. Then Baxter drew away until at 8 a. m. today with forty precincts missing, he had a lead of more than 7,800 votes.

A tabulation of the returns from 25 out of 33 cities for all the republican candidates for delegates at large shows very little variation from the Baxter and Crane votes.

Many Ballots Invalidated.

The political writers paid considerable attention today to the candidacy of Frank S. Seibertich, of Boston, a former state senator, who was pledged to Taft and who appeared between the Roosevelt and Taft delegates at large. Reports from many voting places were to the effect that many ballots were invalidated because nine names were marked instead of eight, and the Taft managers claimed today that hundreds of their supporters were disfranchised by voting for Seibertich and eight Taft delegates at large whose names appeared directly under.

While the contest for the delegates at large was settled comparatively early last night, the struggle for the 28 district delegates continued for more than twelve hours, and at 8 a. m. today the Eighth district was still in doubt, with a ward in Somerville unreported.

The small vote for Senator LaFollette was one of the features of the primary and town after town reported without a single vote being recorded in his favor. To poll less than 2,000 in a republican primary where over 100,000 votes were cast, caused surprise to his supporters.

Clark Had Some Lead.

With nearly the entire state recorded, the Clark majority over Wilson was well over 12,000 in a total vote of a trifle more than 30,000.

Owing to the varied marking of the 15 candidates for delegates at large on the democratic ticket the identity of the Massachusetts delegation to the Baltimore convention may not be known for several days. It is practically certain, however, that a majority of them will be pledged to Gov. Foss.

PROGRAM IS PROGRESSIVE.

Roosevelt Crowd in Control of Pennsylvania Convention.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 1.—The republican state convention in session here today is under the control of the Roosevelt force, headed by former State Senator William Flinn, of Pittsburg. Before the convention adjourned it is planned by the Flinn men to put through a program that will be progressive from top to bottom.

The regular republican organization which has lost control of the state organization as a result of the primary vote cast on April 13, has but one candidate in the field. He is Charles F. Wright, of Susquehanna county, the present state treasurer, who seeks a renomination. Mr. Wright before the convention met said that he had the support of United States Senator Penrose, head of the regular organization wing of the party, and added that he had hopes of winning the nomination.

The Roosevelt forces caucussed last night and made up the slate which they expect the convention to adopt without any material changes. Their program calls for the nomination of State Senator A. W. Powell, of Pittsburg, for auditor general, and Robert K. Young, of Tioga county, for state treasurer.

The Roosevelt slate for the four candidates to be nominated for congress at large is as follows: Fred A. Lewis, Allentown; John M. Morin, Pittsburg; Arthur P. Rupley, Carlisle; Anderson H. Walters, Johnstown. There were about forty candidates for congressmen at large and the Roosevelt leaders had some difficulty in reducing the number to four.

The caucus also selected Henry G. Wason, of Pittsburg, for state chairman to succeed Henry F. Walton, of Philadelphia, and W. Nevin Dietrich, of Chambersburgh for secretary of state committee to succeed Harry Baker, Harrisburg. The Penrose men have held no caucus.

GEORGIA VOTING TODAY.

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—Primaries to determine for whom Georgia's vote in the democratic national convention shall be cast are being held throughout the state today.

The names of Woodrow Wilson, Oscar Underwood, Champ Clark and Judson Harmon appear on the ballots in most of the counties. It is conceded that the real contest is between the New Jersey governor and the Alabama congressman.

Player-Piano Music can be no better than the piano with which it is produced

In buying a Kranich & Bach Player-Piano you are sure that the foundation is right. There is no danger that the tone will become thin, metallic or dead, as is the case with players united with cheap inferior pianos, which will not stand the strai n of hard continuous playing.

You are certain that no matter how often the instrument is played, its tone purity, volume and delicacy of expression will be maintained.

The Kranich & Bach
Player-Piano

For half-a-century the Kranich & Bach has been recognized as one of the world's leading pianos.

The Kranich & Bach player mechanism in every way maintains the high standard set by the Kranich & Bach piano. The "Tri-Melodeme" which enables one to "bring out" the melody in either Bass, Tenor or Treble, and subdue all other notes is an absolute necessity in the production of "Personal Music" on the player piano.

Other exclusive features are the Pianissimo Lever for the very softest effects—the Emphasizer which enables one to accent any note or chord, and the Tempo Lever for artistic variations of time.

Kranich & Bach "Player-Piano Quality" is in every way equal to Kranich & Bach "Piano Quality" which you and your ancestors have known for nearly fifty years.

BED ATHLETICS REGAIN HEALTH

Senator Tillman's Acrobatic Program of Sixteen Exercises.

REPEAT AT NIGHT

Washington, April 30.—Being a senator does not lessen the difficulties of recuperation of broken health. That is the testimony of Senator Tillman of South Carolina, who has been striving to regain the strength which has been impaired by disease. His agencies are physical culture and deep breathing.

Here are his rules:

1. Before getting up in the morning take the head off the pillow and stretch out, exhaling all the air out of the lungs and then draw in all the air possible, and hold it between movements. Kick yourself briskly, first with one foot and then the other, ten, twelve or fifteen times each—repeating if you feel like it.

2. Draw up the knees, with the heels on the bed; throw the knees as far apart as they can be carried, swinging them apart and together vigorously so as to strain the muscles of the thigh.

3. Throw one foot and then the other toward the headboard, vigorously kicking it if you can. Still lying on the back, kick upward and then drop the heels at least fifteen times.

4. Kick upward both feet and throw the feet apart as you kick as wide as you can and as vigorously as you can. These movements will bring some muscles into play that are not often used.

Finding Other Muscles.

5. Stretch the hands down so as to give leverage, then put them under you behind the spine and throw both feet toward the headboard, also using the abdominal muscles to pull up the lower extremities, repeating up and down so as to strengthen the abdominal muscles by the work put on them, five or six times, or as often as it can be done with one breath.

6. Grasp the iron cross pieces at the head of the cot and throw both feet up, pulling up the body and standing as near the head as possible. Throw the feet up and down five or six times.

7. Fasten the feet under the cross piece of the cot and pull the trunk up to a sitting posture and then drop back, and repeat four or five times.

8. Throw back the head and draw up the feet and lift the body clear of the bed, so that the shoulders do not touch, two or three times.

9. Get out of bed and take a cold bath and rub down briskly. Put on an undershirt and use a light pair of dumbbells to give momentum to the movements which are necessary to exercise the muscles of the arms and upper parts of the body. Standing flat footed and clasping the dumb-bells, throw the arms down by the thighs, backward and return, swinging backward and forward as far as possible.

10. Keeping the knees straightened, try to punch each big toe with each hand, straightening up between times and coming back at it as though you meant business. This stretches the muscles of the calf and also the muscles of the back.

Putting Hinges Into Spine.

11. Throw the head back and bend the neck as far as possible, looking at the ceiling. Then stoop forward and touch the floor in front of you if you can. This movement is to loosen the muscles of the spine, like working a rusty hinge.

12. Using the dumb-bells, swinging them backward and forward to the right and left, one arm going to the abdomen while the other extends above the head as far as possible; as one goes down elevate the other. This will lubricate and loosen the joints of the shoulders.

13. Extend the arms in front, with the dumb-bells clasped tightly. Throw both hands behind the back, so as to bring them as near together as possible, still holding the dumb-bells, ten times.

14. Throw one hand to the rear and the other to the front. Twist the spine, first looking over one shoulder, then the other. This is to loosen the spinal column and make the vertebrae twist each on the other. This movement can be practiced either sitting or standing.

"I practice all this before breakfast in the morning and at night before going to bed," the senator says, "and I feel it makes a very marked difference in my strength and otherwise."

ABUNDANCE OF SOFT, FLUFFY HAIR AND NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF

Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine and try this—stops hair falling out.

Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff like snow beneath the blazing sun, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp; forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting all over the scalp.

A little Danderine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

Candidates Are Filing.

Benj. Frank Eick filed his report of election expenses and says he spent as political agent for himself nothing in his race for the democratic nomination for sheriff. He will have to file another report showing how much he spent as a candidate. Albert J. Black spent $322.05. R. J. Mourey spent $216.69, and William Westenfeld got rid of $61.65 trying to be nominated on the democratic ticket for county commissioner. Samuel B. Hatch ran on the republican ticket and it cost him nothing.

Judge Sol A. Wood was not out a cent in his race for his nomination and neither was John H. Ehle or Francis E. Moore. Clifford J. Moran spent $1.20 getting himself nominated for representative.

Notes of the Courts.

Ralph Dunlap was found guilty in the circuit court of forgery and sentenced from two to fourteen years in the reformatory at Jeffersonville.

WOMAN WIELDS A KNIFE.

Uses Weapon Successfully in Collecting Debt From Official.

Chicago, May 1. Alice McMorrow, of Philadelphia, small and about 33 years old, collected $500 today from a Chicago deputy coroner through the medium of a silver handled knife.

She met Deputy Coroner Michael G. Walsh in the county building. A few words were spoken and then onlookers saw the flash of a knife. Walsh grabbed the woman. Other deputies separated the two and the woman was taken to the coroner's office. After a few hours the woman left smiling with the knife and $500 in her handbag. Coroner Hoffman explained that the woman loaned Walsh $500 which Walsh did not repay. "I told him to pay the debt or lose his job," said the coroner.

"He paid and Alice McMorrow left a receipt with me declaring the debt settled and regretting the circumstances of

DID NOT GET THE NEWS UNTIL LATE

Taft Spent Night With No Word from Massachusetts Vote.

HE VISITS SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., May 1.—President Taft reached Savannah at 10 o'clock this morning. He will be the guest tonight of the Hibernian society of Savannah at its centennial celebration and banquet.

The president received his first information of the results of the Massachusetts primaries when he reached this city. Although he remained up in his private car until late last night he got no word from Boston or from Washington. The first intimation of the closeness of the fight in the Bay state came to Mr. Taft at breakfast, when he saw a Savannah newspaper.

He eagerly inquired for later developments as soon as he was comfortably seated in the home of Gen. W. W. Gordon, his host on this visit. The information that he was leading in the preferential vote pleased the president greatly and he was hopeful that later news might be still more encouraging. He made no comment.

Aside from the banquet tonight, the committee on arrangements had mapped out a program for Mr. Taft's stay here today that included luncheon at the Thunderbolt casino, a short talk to students at the Georgia state industrial college and a reception to the Savannah Yale alumni.

Gov. Brown, of Georgia, welcomed Mr. Taft to Savannah as he left his private car.

ROOSEVELT IN HIGH FEATHER.

New York, May 1.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt was in high feather today. He was greatly pleased, he said, with the result in Massachusetts, which in the light of incomplete returns he declared he regarded as a great victory. Col. Roosevelt declined, however, to say more until he should have received complete returns.

The wedding invitation means much in Barcelona, Spain. For then every one who receives one must go and give a coin to the bride. That is for her dowry. The father is usually unable to furnish one. He has had to buy a house for her and fit it up, and that is usually expensive.

CHILD OF ROYALTY FOUND IN DALLAS

Little Girl Sought for Years Taken Charge of in Texas.

SAILS FOR DENMARK

Dallas, Texas, May 1.—Following negotiations that involved the assistance of four nations and which have extended over a period of a year, little Hella Jorgensen, daughter of a former Danish consul, and related to the royal family of Denmark, has sailed from Galveston en route to her fatherland.

For six years relatives had searched in three countries for the little daughter of August Jorgensen, but their search was futile until members of the Presbyterian mission board in Dallas appeared before Probation Officer Leman and asked an investigation of the detention of a little girl who was being kept in a house in East Commerce street in this city.

Years ago, the investigation disclosed, August Jorgensen had been sent to Rome as the royal Danish consul, but went from there to Mexico. After being there a short while Jorgensen and his wife died suddenly. When relatives and the royal family of Denmark began to search for the girl they were unable to find her.

The investigations made by Officer Leman developed the fact that the girl had been taken charge of by persons who claimed her as a relative. Mr. Leman took the matter up with United States authorities in Denmark. An immigration inspector came here from Washington, information was obtained from Italy and Mexico and Mr. Leman made several trips to different parts of the state.

The matter was brought to a close last week and Mr. Leman left for Galveston with the 11-year-old girl in charge, where he turned her over to the Danish vice consul. She sailed from there for Denmark.

The facts as to the girl's identity were brought out by the connecting up of the meager details learned from the girl by the mission women and the explanation given by the people in whose custody the child was found.

On the ground that she was being made a servant and denied the advantages of an education, the juvenile court declared her a dependent and took charge of her.

It does not appear that the persons in whose custody she was found had violated any law, so no charge has been made against them.

Sage Tea Will Darken the Hair

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our grandmothers kept their hair dark, glossy and abundant by the use of a simple "Sage Tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of Sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

This preparation gives youthful color and beauty to the hair, and is one of the best remedies you can use for dandruff, dry, feverish, itching scalp, and falling hair. Get a fifty cent bottle from your druggist today, and you will be surprised at the quick results. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Special Agents, Meyer Bros. Co.

PROSTATITIS Almost every third man, after the age of 40 years, is afflicted with Prostatitis and its dependent Bladder and Kidney complications through various causes, thus obstructing the free passage of urine and causing retention. This residual urine becomes foul and ammoniacal, and SERIOUS and FATAL KIDNEY Disease soon ensues. Are you one of the many sufferers?

You have perhaps worked hard in early life and saved a competency to retire and enjoy your remaining years, only to find your health undermined, your night's rest broken through frequent and painful urination, and your strength lost or greatly impaired. DON'T DESPAIR. I have saved, healed and cured thousands of men afflicted as you are and I know I can do the same for you. My method of treatment quickly allays all soreness and inflammation, cleanses and heals the PROSTRATE, BLADDER and KIDNEYS, removing every obstruction so that the urine soon passes freely and naturally without burning or sediment. Avoid cutting and dilating operations. This is a delicate and dangerous malady. Don't experiment with family doctors and "INEXPERIENCED PRETENDERS." Remember, good health is your most valuable asset, your working capital. Consult me TODAY.

The building up and curing of broken-down men is my life work. Thousands of cured, grateful patients will vouch for my skill, honesty and ability. My treatment overcomes all the ill effects of former folly, makes the nerves strong and steady, purifies and enriches the blood, so that you soon possess the confidence, energy and magnetism of the MANLY MAN. Avoid temporary stimulants. Seek a permanent restoration.

I simply want the opportunity of showing every suffering man that I can give him new hope, new life and restore him to health, strength and vigor. I know some men are better able to pay me $10 than others to pay $1, and I know every man will pay after I have entirely eliminated every trace of disease from his system. Doctor Moreland does not use the columns of the newspapers to attract people to his office. I do not need to do this. My object in these articles is to teach men—those in moderate circumstances—where they can get the best and most skillful special treatment for an amount of money they can afford to pay. Doctor Moreland has treated and cured more patients than ten average doctors would see in a lifetime. The low fee system has made it possible and the doctor sticks to the same small charge in spite of the increase in cost of every other necessity. If you are in need of skilled services go to Doctor Moreland today—now—save time and money and GET WELL.

NO PATIENT CHARGED MORE THAN WHAT HE IS GLAD AND WILLING TO PAY.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., May 1.—Standing orders to buy at a decline rallied the wheat market today after initial weakness due to lower cables and favorable weather. July started at $1.10⅝ to $1.11, and then rose to $1.11½.

A further upturn followed, owing to remarkable losses reported in Sumner county, Kan. The effect did not, however, last. Closing prices were easy, with July 1½c net lower at $1.11½.

Corn advanced on account of wet weather. July opened unchanged at 78¼@78⅜c to 78½c and ascended to 78⅝c.

Profit taking led to a reaction, which was aided by large receipts west and southwest. The close was steady at 77⅛c for July, ⅜@½c under last night.

In oats the feature was the effort of cash houses to buy May delivery. July started unchanged at 54⅜c and touched 54⅝c.

Heavy liquidating sales for longs, especially pork, carried provisions sharply downward. First transactions with September options were $19.37½ to $19.50 for pork, $11.12½ to $11.15 for lard and $10.52½ to $10.55 for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, May 1.—Heavy selling of United States Steel common based on the unfavorably quarterly report was the feature at the opening of to-day's stock market. Initial dealings comprised a block of 15,000 shares at 70½ to 70⅞, followed by another block of 3,000 at 70⅝ as against 72⅛ at yesterday's close. There was also acute weakness in Union Pacific with fractional declines in other standard issues. These were offset in a measure by the strength of the anthracite coal stocks, both Reading and Lehigh Valley opening with advances which soon extended to a point or more. American Smelting was another strong stock, but the movement as a whole was irregular.

The early weakness in United States Steel and Union Pacific suggested bear pressure rather than liquidation, this being further attested by the celerity with which Union Pacific recovered the greater part of its loss. United States Steel, however, regained little more than half of its decline, and was offered in liberal quantities at every show of returning strength. Lehigh Valley and Reading made 2-point advances, but soon yielded half of their advantage. American Smelting, American Tobacco, International Harvester and several of the minor metal and industrial shares were up from 1 to 2 points. Trading became dull after the first outbreak.

Prices fell somewhat abruptly in the second hour under the weight of heavy selling with greater weakness in United States Steel, which sold down to 70. The coal stocks also were singled out for attack and practically all standard issues recorded losses. Trading dwindled to small proportions before noon with marked heaviness in Union Pacific. Bonds were easy.

All trace of the early nervousness vanished in the final hour and prices improved sharply under the influence of extensive short covering. Railroad issues made a good showing, and there was some demand for the low priced specialties. United States Steel made up considerable of the day's decline, but ended with a material net loss. The close was firm.

NEW POLICY IS ADOPTED BY BANK

German-American Will Pay Regular Quarterly Dividends.

FIRST TIME HERE

An innovation in local banking methods has been introduced by the German-American National bank, which institution has concluded to pay dividends to stockholders on a regular quarterly basis, dispensing for the present with the special dividends which the bank has heretofore been paying. At the last meeting of the board of directors a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent was declared, and checks for this amount have been mailed to the stockholders, together with a letter announcing the new policy of paying dividends.

Dividends of the bank will hereafter be paid to stockholders every three months, namely on the first day of February, May, August and November. This is in no way an increase in dividends, according to the officials of the institution, as the bank has ben paying 8 per cent for several years.

The new plan is adopted for the sole purpose of benefiting the stockholders and it is believed that the frequent payment of dividends will tend to keep the welfare and growth of the institution constantly upon the minds of those who are financially interested in it. This is the first time in the history of Fort Wayne banks that regular quarterly dividends have been paid to stockholders.

Only one othe business institution in the city, the Wayne Knitting Mills, is following this plan, which thus far has proved to be successful.

May 1, 1898, at 7:35 a. m., Commodore George Dewey signalled his men to stop for breakfast. Then Dewey and his men, all fussed up with coffee and biscuits, came back and finished shelling the fortifications.

SEEK TO AMEND SIGN ORDINANCE

Merchants After Information fro mOther Indiana Cities.

LAW TOO STRINGENT

The regular monthly meeting of the Fort Wayne Retail Merchants' association will be held next Monday night at the Commercial club and the members will submit amendments to the sign ordinance recently adopted by the city council. The association is now investigating similar ordinances in other cities of the state with a view of arriving at some definite plan for sign regulation, which when put before the council will be accepted.

Local merchants and business men feel that the new ordinance is entirely to stringent and uncalled for. If the merchants of the city were to abide by the new ordinance, it would mean the loss of thousands of dollars to the business people of the city, as there are only a few merchants whose signs are within the bounds of the new ordinance. Hundreds of high priced electrical signs in the business district would have to be cast aside and many of them are comparatively new.

The ordinance as it stands makes it necessary for merchants to arrange their signs not less than twelve feet from the sidewalk and not more than four feet from the front of their buildings.

The matter will be thoroughly discussed at the meeting Monday evening.

GIRLS COULDN'T FIND 'EM.

Fail to Find Handsome Cowboy Husbands Shown in Motion Pictures.

Guthrie, Okla., May 1.—Disappointed because they were unable to find rich, handsome, cowboy husbands as pictured in motion picture plays, Gertrude Bell Burkett, 18 years old, and Emma Jean Becker, 14 yeas old, of Glenfield, Pa., a suburb of Pittsburg, who ran away from their homes three weeks ago, today started back in the custody of Mrs. Catherine Hoyt, probation officer of Pittsburg.

Miss Burkett's father is said to be wealthy. Miss Becker is the daughter of a department store proprietor. The girls had been here two weeks and unable to secure employment, had exhausted the hundred dollars they had when they started west.

CARNIVAL CHANGES DATES.

Will Open May 4 on Old Kekionga Golf Club Grounds.

On account of bad grounds elsewhere the Hoosier Amusement company has decided to open its carnival at the old Kekionga Golf club grounds at the east end of Washington boulevard. The dates for the event have been set from May 4 to 13. The company will have eight big shows, two free acts, and give a band concert daily. Announcement is made that everything will be in readiness for the opening performance Saturday evening. The exhibition was to have been been given on South Calhoun street, just south of Pontiac street.

WOULD CHANGE NAME OF ISMAY.

Montana Residents Want to Call Town After Some Titanic Hero.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 1.—According to reports received here residents of Ismay, Mont., a town on the Puget Sound extension of the Milwaukee railroad, contemplates taking steps to have the name of the town changed since the Titanic disaster and the criticism that has been heaped upon J. Bruce Ismay. Most of the residents favor adopting the name of some man who acted a hero's part on the doomed vessel, but they do not favor the name of Astor, and consider Butt and Smith too insignificant a designation for a growing town like Ismay.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

SHAUGHNESSY ADDED TWELVE INCHES TO HEIGHT IN YEAR

Made Him Bow Legged But It Helped a Lot in the Ninth Inning of the Dayton Game.

Manager Francis Joseph Shag Shaughnessy, pilot extraordinary of Claude H. Varnell's pennant hopes, grew just an even foot between the ages of fourteen and fifteen "and that's what made me bowlegged," said the manager in telling of his phenomenal upgrowing in the days of his boyhood.

He was just about to tell why the rapid growth started his legs growing crescent shaped instead of straight up as human legs were intended to grow when call for a late dinner at the Wayne hotel sounded in his ears and the story of his youth was postponed.

As a matter of fact the general public is not interested in Mr. Shaughnessy's legs more than that the baseball public and Pitcher Lendell are happy that this twelve inches he tells about was added at some time during his growing period because if it hadn't been the returns from yesterday's conflict with Charles "Dutch" Knoll's leaderless Vets would have materially altered the standing of the clubs.

With three hits and no runs to their credit the Vets went into the last inning nine runs to the bad and stacked against a brand of pitching that was most remarkable when it is considered that the season is barely open. Heiny Katz slammed the ball to center and but for some rapid fire return work he would have made three stations on the circuit, but he was lanced at second. Rockewitz met a slant for a single to left and Harley was hit on the hand by a pitched ball populating all the sacks with nobody in the discard.

Leonard Dobard landed one for a double to left and Mike Konnick hit a fly that carried most to center field fence. The manager gave chase and made one of the most remarkable catches ever seen on the local lot. And right here is where that extra foot counted. The ball was high and although Curly Blount might have reached the point had he been playing center he could never have gotten the ball because of his failure to grow when he had the opportunity.

The manager played brilliant ball all through the contest and it is a brand that is bound to make him popular. He is a modest sort of fellow, more intent on winning than in standing in the spotlight and his dashing play is not to obtain newspaper notices, but for the sole purpose of winning games for his employer.

In the first inning he picked off a single to center. Wickland came in slowly on the ball and the manager saw the opportunity in a twinkling and scudded for second. He made it and the hit went down as a double. He hit four times in five times up and scored three runs.

Loudell pitched high class ball up to the ninth inning. Like the other pitchers he has not had work enough and he is hardly fit to go an entire game, but he looked mighty good while he was in the box and he had Dayton going from the jump.

Fort Wayne had little trouble finding Bill Otey and when Knoll found the game was lost he sent in Williams, a young southpaw, just to give him a little work out and he got through two innings with only a couple of hits registered against him.

Bunny Fabrique broke in with his first hit of the season when he lammed a shoot down third base line for a double and Harry Martin also registered his first safe drive on the home lot when he winged one in the sixth and scored McLafferty.

Iowerth Blount sneaked one over when he stole in from third in the fourth inning while two or three Dayton players were holding a caucus down at second base following a throw in.

Sir William Clancy was the timely bingler. William generally hits with men on bases and both of his blows yesterday sent runners over the plate.

Mark McLafferty is certainly showing class around that third bag. He had some difficult chances in yesterday's game, but he nabbed them all and displayed high class form in his field work.

A couple of boils, more or less, make no difference to Roy Keener. He kept up his remarkable hitting in the game and drove in a pair of tallies.

Harry Martin went to bat in the last inning with his shin guards on. Somebody asked him why he didn't take them off. "You don't want any more runs do you?" was Martin's comeback.

Vandagrift is getting back to his old form about second. He is holding the runners on and playing a dandy fielding game around the bag.

Elg Williams looks like the making of a pitcher. He has one bad habit that will have to be corrected. He takes two steps in delivering the ball and when he overcomes this he will be a much better hurler.

When Knoll gets back in the game and the Dayton pitchers get going right Dayton will be hard to beat.

BURKE SENT TWO TO CANTON TEAM

Infielder and Pitcher Are Sent to Chinks from Indianapolis.

BUILDING UP A TEAM

Canton, O., May 2.—Infielder Alcock and Pitcher Brady, two players held by Jimmy Burke's Indianapolis club because they were too good to release, have been sent to strengthen the Canton club and will be put into the game s soon as they arrive.

The acquisition of the players is probably the biggest deal made by the locals since the work of recruiting a team started in January. President Watkins, of Indianapolis, was at the other end of the transaction. Watkins owns the Springfield Central league team and the Newark Ohio State league team, but he informed the local officers that he did not desire to send the pair to either team which was overstocked with players. The Hoosier official declared that either player was as good, if not the peer of any man on the Springfield team. As Canton made a bid for the athletes before the South Bend team Watkins disposed of the men to the Statesmen. They were secured by the Hoosiers by draft at the close of the 1911 season.

Records show that Brady pitched twenty-five games for Albany, of the New York State league last season, winning seventeen. He was the second best twirler on that circuit, being headed by Kunz of Utica and Wilkesbarre. Brady's percentage was .680. He batted .255, and led the pitchers of the league in fielding with a mark of 1.000, accepting six putouts and sixty-one assists.

Alcock, who is a native of Wooster, O., played third base for the Albany Ga., team of the South Atlantic league. In 139 games he batted .333, ranking fourth, and being headed by men who played in only four to seventy-one games.

In fielding the Wooster lad finished third among third basemen. He had an average of .939. He landed 215 putouts, 240 assists, and had but 36 misplays.

President Yost said Monday that Alcock would probably be played in the outfield if the club closed negotiations with an experienced shortstop. The deal is expected to be consummated Wednesday afternoon. The player has accepted terms, but wants the Statesmen's management to buy his release.

"The men we have just signed and the men we expect to sign will bolster Canton considerably," said the local chief executive. "We are confident that the addition of Brady and Alcock will plug big holes and we are more certain than ever that the club will not be in the second division by the end of May."

GUESE MAY JOIN PHILLIPS.

Pitcher Well Known Here Liable to Break Into the Central.

Wapakoneta, O., May 2.—"Whitey" Guese, former Cincinnati and St. Louis pitcher, and idol of Wapakoneta's small boy contingent, has refused to report to the Great Falls (Mont.) team and will probably join the Youngstown Central league team. Bill Phillips is said to be trying to secure Guese's release from Great Falls. The big player began working out in this city about March 15, and he is in splendid form.

FRED COOK DOING WELL.

Pitcher Fred Cook, who was a member of the Grand Rapids staff in 1910, has more than made good with Columbus. To date Cook is their leading pitcher. In the last thirty-two innings he has pitched Cook has been scored on in only one inning. That was when Minneapolis scored two runs off him the other day. He has won two games via the shut-out route, allowing the Kansas City club but five hits and not a man reached third base.

SCHWINDT TO OTTAWA CLUB.

Local Players Released Under an Agreement to Canadian League.

E. A. Schwindt, youngster picked up by Bert Dennis and recommended for a tryout with the Fort Wayne club, will play with Ottawa in the Canadian league this season. An option is retained on his services.

He is a bit young to keep on the bench for utility man and the manager wants to see him develop and for that reason is giving him over to a club where he can play every day.

CANDIDATE HAD AGREED TO PLAY

Arndt Was to Have Worked for Coffey If He Had Gotten Manager's Berth.

OPEN HERE ON FRIDAY

When Eddie Coffey and Harry Arndt were candidates for the managerial berth at South Bend each agreed that he would work for the other and as a result two members of the original Greenstockings are coming here tomorrow with the Bender aggregation.

Beginning at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the series will continue to and including Sunday. The Benders will make their bow to the first ladies' day crowd of the season if the weather is good tomorrow, as the gates will be free to femininity in keeping with a custom established many years ago.

Eddie Coffey is a good lieutenant for Arndt, as he has been in the Central league for a number of years and knows the game thoroughly. He was out last season because he refused to play for Fort Wayne, preferring to stay at home and attend to business.

In the club are Charlie Bates, last season with Terre Haute; Buzz Wetzel, who played at Grand Rapids last season; Clyde Parker, with the Newark club of 1911, and George Tieman, who has been in the Central league since it started, and who formerly lived in Fort Wayne.

The club played good ball against Terre Haute in the game yesterday and was barely nosed out in the ninth inning when Bubbles Hargrove went in for Waring and started a rally that netted two runs and a victory.

The Central league scores are as follows:

JACOBSON SOLD TO ST. THOMAS.

Jack Jacobson, star pitcher of the Kalamazoo club of the Southern Michigan association for the last two seasons, has been sold to the St. Thomas club of the Canadian league. He was a holdout for higher salary this year, and the Kalamazoo club was unable to meet his demands under the lowered salary limit of the league and decided to sell his release.

WALTER JOHNSON SETS FAST PACE; 27 INNINGS AND NOT A RUN SCORED.

When a pitcher travels twenty-seven straight innings without being scored upon, and these twenty-seven innings against three clubs, one being the hardest hitting aggregation in the game, it may be ventured that said pitcher is "going some."

Just this thing has Walter Johnson, the Washington club's speed marvel, accomplished, who is the season's baseball surprise. Heretofore considered a warm weather pitcher, Johnson has upset form charts by jumping into his stride from the first, pitching the sort of ball that is looked for in late July and August.

If Clarke Griffith had another pitcher as good as Johnson, Washington, comedian of the American league, would give the best a hot race for the pennant.

Unfortunately for Washington in this respect, Johnson stands heads and shoulders over the other pitchers of the team. He can scarce be expected to equal the record for service made by Ed Walsh, the spit-baller, who pitched almost one-third of the Sox games one season.

Johnson blanked the Athletics in the final four innings of the first game he pitched against that team this spring, then he shut out the Highlanders for nine innings, blanked the Athletics for nine periods and for five innings held Boston runless—twenty-seven straight innings and not a run scored against him.

This sort of pitching by Johnson ought to keep Washington in the first division all season. If the rest of the corps can win .500 per cent the lowly Senators will remain above the dividing line and have a laugh at the expense of their more chesty neighbors.

WALTER JOHNSON.
